Grammar Translation Method - Answer- The traditional academic style of teaching which places heavy emphasis on grammar explanation and translation as a teaching technique

Silent Method - Answer- Teacher models and remains silent most of the time, students are responsible for their own learning; techniques = sound-color charts, peer correction, use of manipulative; Part of the communicative Approach

Sheltered Instruction - Answer- Students cover content but with adaptations made to the delivery of instruction to meet the needs of the ELLs proficiency levels.

SIOP - Answer- (Echecarria, Vogt and Short)
Content Objective, Language Objective, background knowledge, Interaction, Meaningful Activities

Task-Based Instruction - Answer- real life tasks combine language with non-linguistic functions, focus on meaning, and requires information gathering, comprehension, interaction, language production

Natural Approach - Answer- The natural approach is a comprehension-based language learning methodology which emphasizes the idea of exposure and the lowering of affective or emotional barriers to learning.

CALLA: Cognitive Academic Language Learning Approach - Answer- (Chamot and O'Malley) Through carefully designed lesson plans tied to content curriculum, teachers explicitly teach learning strategies and have students apply them to instructional tasks. Plans are based on these assumptions: 1. Mentally active learners are better learners. 2. Strategies can be taught. 3. Learning strategies transfer to new tasks. 4. Academic language learning is more effective with learning strategies.

Communicative Approach - Answer- Learning occurs within the interpersonal space of teacher-student interactions. Temporary support (scaffolding) is essential. ZONE OF PROXIMAL DEVELOPMENT: Tasks children can complete independently, tasks children can complete when assisted by a competent teacher, tasks children cannot complete even with assistance.

The Language Demands of School Alison L. Bailey,2007-01-01 The Language Demands of School is an edited volume describing an extensive empirical base for academic English testing instruction and professional development The chapters comprise empirical research by Bailey and colleagues at the National Center for Research on Evaluation Standards Student Testing CRESST at UCLA and invited contributions by practitioners in the fields of language policy testing and instruction The central focus of the chapters is the research conducted by CRESST over the last two years in an attempt to document the academic English language demands placed on school age learners of English The three additional chapters give the perspectives of a policy maker at the state level test developers and practitioners The Language Demands of School fills a gap in the current literature by addressing the kind s of English required of K 12 English Learner students from an evidence based perspective This is timely given the broader context of the No Child Left Behind Act of 2001 which has prompted school systems to identify English language proficiency tests to meet the federal mandate One of the problems that has surfaced in the search for English language tests for K 12 English Learner students is the inadequacy of existing research on the development of the academic English language skills that all students both English Learner and native English speaking need to be successful in the school setting The Language Demands of School is devoted to exploring this topic and to presenting research that illuminates both the questions and the answers
