Actors Join Writers on Strike

TRADEVIEW
by W.R. WILKERSON

• THERE is little doubt that this morning starts a new history of the picture industry. What has been known, for over 50 years, as "the picture business," now takes on and will have a different face during the next several months and for the rest of its days.

EVERYTHING in the business will be changed—production, distribution, exhibition. The strike of the actors and the writers will demand, and get, a new operation all around, reaching every pay check in the business.

We look for a sell-out of most major studios and a sell-out of all backlog by TV. We anticipate all production to be conducted on an individual basis through studio space and distributing through one of the existing major studios, but each greatly reduced in size and overhead and, as a result, a greatly reduced handling fee. We believe these changes will bring down the price of tickets at least 50% and the total package of production, distribution and exhibition might again enjoy the $20,000,000 to $100,000,000 turnover the movies formerly entertained each week.

It's our opinion that not ONE major studio had any idea of selling its backlog because of the continual rise in ticket sales for the past eight months, and even with the tremendous cost of production and the ability to bring out a few hits each year, they could live with the amount of money available at the boxoffices. You might ask, "If the majors were dead set

Sinatra To Star In Six Pontiac Specials On NBC In 1960-61

As his own first client for his newly-formed theatrical agency, Frank Sinatra has closed a deal with Pontiac, whereby he'll star in six special made seasons on NBC-TV. Since Fabian has always colonized his specials, it is assumed Sinatra for the future will beam his specials in over the network. It's also fairly certain, Sammee Davis, Jr., Zsa Zsa Gabor, Desi Arnaz, Elizabeth Taylor and Shirley MacLaine, among others, will shift theatrical representation to Sinatra's agency.

Sinatra concludes a three-year pact with ABC on May 11, when he begins "Welcome Home" to Eric Packer.

executors yesterday afternoon, the deadline was rejected, and the strike now is in effect. In reply to the "no strike" proposal that pictures now in progress be allowed to finish shooting, the guild replied, "A strike is a strike and the major company presidents are responsible for it, therefore no moratorium can be given."

The guild board also called a mass meeting to be holding for next Sunday night at the Hollywood Palladium at which the membership will be brought up to date on developments. The board also voted to ask the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service to help settle the dispute.

Italian Producers Step Up Activity

Possibly with an eye to a merger of the U.S. and world film market resulting from the Hollywood strike situation, Italian producers are changing their methods.

They are turning to co-productions and co-shootings, which the Italian film industry has gone past

Actors Seek Legal Advice

Groups of SAG members opposed to the strike have consulted an attorney for legal opinion on feasibility of petitioning for an NLRB election of actors working in the struck major studios. Position of the dissidents is that SAG no longer has a collective bargaining agreement. Situation is similar to that of musicians two years ago when Musicians Guild of America won bargaining rights for musicians in the major plants over the AFM, after latter staged a walkout.

Sinatra And Sidney Paying IA Double Guilds' Demands

Demands of the IATSE and basic studio craft unions for double the amount of added payments granted by producers to the actors and writers guilds on post-1948 films released to TV has created a serious roadblock in Guild negotiations with independent producers for new contracts.

IA officials moved into the picture immediately following announcement.
