

THE ENTREPRENEUR'S GUIDE TO PRODUCTIVITY

A 5-STEP DAY PLANNER

Focus on "winning" rather than "winning" is "winning".
You can't control the day, but you can control the focus.
You can't control the weather, but you can control the clothes you wear.
You can't control the economy, but you can control the products you sell.

Now, that's the right way. And that's the way to work.
The ultimate self-help learning formula: You learn to live the life you choose, not the life that chooses you.

Right priorities.

1. Set your goals. You can't control the day, but you can control the focus. You can't control the weather, but you can control the clothes you wear. You can't control the economy, but you can control the products you sell.
2. Plan your day. You can't control the day, but you can control the focus. You can't control the weather, but you can control the clothes you wear. You can't control the economy, but you can control the products you sell.
3. Follow your plan. You can't control the day, but you can control the focus. You can't control the weather, but you can control the clothes you wear. You can't control the economy, but you can control the products you sell.

STEP 3

FOCUS ON RESULTS.

As many entrepreneurs would tell you, the secret to success is results. The more time you spend on the day-to-day activities of your business, the less time you have to focus on the results. That's why it's important to have a clear understanding of what you want to achieve, and to have a clear plan for how to get there.

Key focus areas:

The focus areas of your business should be based on the nature of your business model. For some, it may be revenue generation, customer acquisition, product development, or market expansion. For others, it may be cost reduction, operational efficiency, or employee retention. The key is to identify the areas that are most critical to your business's success and prioritize them accordingly.

The Pareto Principle, also known as the 80/20 rule, is based on the concept of power distribution. It states that 80% of the results come from 20% of the effort. This principle can be applied to business operations to help identify the most critical areas of focus and prioritize them effectively.

For example, if you're a small business, there are only so many hours in the day to focus on your business.
