Mozi fifth century B C was an important political and social thinker and formidable rival of the Confucianists He advocated universal love his most important doctrine according to which all humankind should be loved and treated as one s kinfolk honoring and making use of worthy men in government and identifying with one s superior as a means of establishing uniform moral standards He also believed in the will of Heaven and in ghosts He firmly opposed offensive warfare extravagance including indulgence in music and allied pleasures elaborate funerals and mourning fatalistic beliefs and Confucianism      Chuang Tzu Zhuang Zi, 1964      Basic Writings Zhuangzi, 1994      Zhuangzi Zhuangzi, 2003

Only by understanding Dao the Way of Nature and dwelling in its unity can humankind achieve true happiness and freedom in both life and death This is the central tenet of the philosophy espoused by Zhuangzi 369 286 BCE in the book that bears his name A leading philosopher of the Daoist strain Zhuangzi used parable and anecdote allegory and paradox to set forth the early ideas of what was to become the Daoist school Witty and imaginative enriched by brilliant imagery and making sportive use of both mythological and historical personages including even Confucius this is a timeless classic      Basic Writings Fei Han, 1964      Mo Tzu Mo zi, Ti Mo, 1963      Philosophies of Happiness Diana Lobel, 2017-11-14

What does it mean to be truly happy In Philosophies of Happiness Diana Lobel provides a rich spectrum of arguments for a theory of happiness as flourishing or well being offering a global cross cultural and interdisciplinary perspective on how to create a vital fulfilling and significant life Drawing upon perspectives from a broad range of philosophical traditions Eastern and Western ancient and contemporary the book suggests that just as physical health is the well being of the body happiness is the healthy and flourishing condition of the whole human being and we experience the most complete happiness when we realize our potential through creative engagement Lobel shows that while thick descriptions of happiness differ widely in texture and detail certain themes resonate across texts from different traditions and historical contexts suggesting core features of a happy life attentive awareness effortless action relationship and connection to a larger interconnected community love or devotion and creative engagement Each feature adds meaning significance and value so that we can craft lives of worth and purpose These themes emerge from careful study of philosophical and religious texts and traditions the Greek philosophers

The Ways of Confucianism David S. Nivison, 1996 Nivison brings out the exciting variety within Confucian thought as he interprets and elucidates key thinkers from over two thousand years from Confucius himself through Mencius and Xunzi to such later Confucians as Wang Yangming Dai Zhen and Zhang Xuecheng Cover Education in Modern China R.F. Price, 2014-02-25 First published in 1970 this re issues the revised edition of 1979 This book examines the part played both by tradition and by the Cultural Revolution in the educational system of twentieth century China and explores the apparent reversal of policy which took place since the death of Mao The book discusses the writings of Mao on the nature of man society and knowledge and his ideas on education These are then seen in the context of history philosophy and religion Educational aims and policies are discussed showing how factors such as language geography economics and the social structure created obstacles to reform

Han Feizi, 2003-05-14 Trenchant sophisticated and cynical Han Feizi has been read in every age and is still of interest today when people are more than ever concerned with the nature and use of power Han Feizi 280-233 B.C. a prince of Han was a representative of the Fa chia or Legalist school of philosophy and produced the final and most readable exposition of its theories His handbook for the ruler deals with the problems of strengthening and preserving the state the way of the ruler the use of power and punishment and favor Ironically the ruler most influenced by Han Feizi the king of Qin eventually sent Han Feizi to prison where he later committed suicide

Explaining Chinese Democratization Shaohua Hu, 2000-01-30 Hu seeks to explain China's failure to establish a democratic system He demonstrates both continuity and change in China's democratization process Modern China regards power and wealth as primary goals and treats a strong state as a major means to these ends Such a preference puts democracy on a back burner Employing a theoretical framework which consists of five factors historical legacies local forces the world system socialist values and economic development Hu shows that while all of these factors were at work in all eras each assumes a special significance in a particular period Traditional China before the 1911 Revolution attempted to adjust itself to a new Western dominated world In the Republican era the control of local forces topped the political agenda Nationalist China sought to survive and develop in the world system while Maoist China set for itself the task of building a socialist state And of course economic development has been the priority of the Deng era As Hu shows these five factors have had determining impacts on the long struggle for democracy in China
