pacemakers and other implantable EP devices are to earlier versions what smart phones are to rotary phones. They are not only smaller and more comfortable; they offer complex programming options that allow clinicians to adapt a device to individual patient requirements. As they continue to become smaller, smarter, and more adaptable, these devices also become more challenging for clinicians to set up, manage, and monitor. This unique, quick reference guide dramatically reduces the learning curve for mastering this essential technology by giving doctors and technicians the how-to information they need. Focuses on tasks clinicians perform including pre-implementation, planning, programming, management, troubleshooting, and more. Shows how expert clinicians achieve optimal outcomes in their own labs with real-world examples. Processing Times And Usability Of Manual Defibrillators Maria Gu00f6ttler, 2017
Background: Manual defibrillators underwent a rapid technical progress. The accurate use of a manual defibrillator can prevent a delay in starting CPR and reduce interruptions of chest compressions. In order to obtain an objective evaluation of a device's usability, eye tracking measurements have recently become a promising method. Eye tracking can expose cognitive processes and visual attention during problem-solving tasks, which is an important part of understanding human reasoning. It was the aim of this study to evaluate the usability of modern manual defibrillators from 4 different manufacturers. We requested a series of tasks representing typical operator-device interactions during a cardiac arrest scenario. Successful task execution and processing times were measured. Additionally, while the operators were performing the tasks, their visual focuses were assessed via mobile eye tracking. Thereafter, their subjective perception of usability was evaluated by a standardized usability questionnaire. The hypothesis of our study was that the usability of manual defibrillators differs between the devices according to the requested task. Methods: After informed consent, ERB of the University of Freiburg, 43 voluntary operators were asked to execute 15 tasks representing typical operating steps during acute defibrillation, cardioversion, or pace-maker stimulation (see Y-axis Figure 2) at 4 different defibrillators: Lifepak™ 20, Physio Control Inc, USA; Defigard Touch 7™, Schiller Switzerland; Corpuls 3™, GS Germany; and X Series™, ALS Zoll Chelmsford, USA (Fig. 1). Operators were naïve to the included devices. The operators' 2019 gazes were measured via an eye-tracking device Tobii Pro Glasses 2 (Tobii AB, Sweden). From these data, task's 2019 processing time (TD) and the operator's 2019 gaze distribution Heat Map were analysed. After having executed the task, the operators 2019 evaluated the usability via a standardized questionnaire. The primary endpoint was TD. Secondary endpoints included gaze distribution and usability score.
