Constructing Panic Lisa Capps, Elinor Ochs, 2009-07-01 Offering a novel analysis of a patient's experience of agoraphobia this collaboration between a clinical psychologist and a linguist proposes a view of agoraphobia as a communicative disorder. It opens up potential for linguistic and narrative analysis by revealing the roots of panic and by establishing a framework for therapeutic intervention. How the Workers Became Muslims Ferruh Yilmaz, 2016-02-22 Writing in the beginning of the 1980s Ernesto Laclau and Chantal Mouffe explored possibilities for a new socialist strategy to capitalize on the period's fragmented political and social conditions. Two and a half decades later Ferruh Yilmaz acknowledges that the populist Far Right, not the socialist movement, has demonstrated greater facility in adopting successful hegemonic strategies along new structural lines. Laclau and Mouffe imagined Right wing hegemonic strategy. Yilmaz argues has led to the reconfiguration of internal fault lines in European societies. Yilmaz's primary case study is Danish immigration discourse but his argument contextualizes his study in terms of questions of current concern across Europe where right wing groups that were long on the fringes of legitimate politics have managed to make significant gains with populations traditionally aligned with the Left. Specifically Yilmaz argues that sociopolitical space has been transformed in the last three decades such that group classification has been destabilized to emphasize cultural rather than economic attributes. According to this point of view traditional European social and political splits are jettisoned for new cultural alliances pulling the political spectrum to the right against the corrosive presence of Muslim immigrants whose own social and political variety is flattened into an illusion of alien sameness. The American Architect and Building News, 1903 Phobias Jennifer MacKay, 2009-01-23 An extremely common misconception about phobias is that they're linked to a traumatic event but in fact phobias can emerge at any time in a person's life without an obvious reason. You may suddenly find yourself suffering from lepidopterophobia or a fear of butterflies. Author Jennifer MacKay offers young readers and researchers a means of understanding phobias and their ramifications. This guidebook offers insight into what phobias are, what causes them, how people live with them, and the latest information about treatment and prevention. Building Witness, 1930 Buildings and Building Management, 1917 Vols for 1933-42 include an annual directory number for 1959, an annual roster of realtors. Channel Tunnel Channel Tunnel Company, Limited, 1907 *Report of the ...
