Colonial Intimacies Ann Marie Plane, 2018-09-05 In 1668 Sarah Ahhaton a married Native American woman of the Massachusetts Bay town of Punkapoag confessed in an English court to having committed adultery For this crime she was tried found guilty and publicly whipped and shamed she contritely promised that if her life were spared she would return to her husband and continue faithful to him during her life yea although hee should beat her againe These events recorded in the court documents of colonial Massachusetts may appear unexceptional in fact they reflect a rapidly changing world Native American marital relations and domestic lives were anathema to English Christians elite men frequently took more than one wife while ordinary people could dissolve their marriages and take new partners with relative ease Native marriage did not necessarily involve cohabitation the formation of a new household or mutual dependence for subsistence Couples who wished to separate did so without social opprobrium and when adultery occurred the blame centered not on the fallen woman but on the interloping man Over time such practices changed but the emergence of new types of Indian marriage enabled the legal social and cultural survival of New England's native peoples The complex interplay between colonial power and native practice is treated with subtlety and wisdom in Colonial Intimacies Ann Marie Plane uses travel narratives missionary tracts and legal records to reconstruct a previously neglected history Plane's careful reading of fragmentary sources yields both conclusive and fittingly speculative findings and her interpretations form an intimate picture moving and often tragic of the familial bonds of Native Americans in the first century and a half of European contact

The Intimacies of Four Continents Lisa Lowe, 2015-06-27 In this uniquely interdisciplinary work Lisa Lowe examines the relationships between Europe Africa Asia and the Americas in the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries exploring the links between colonialism slavery imperial trades and Western liberalism Reading across archives canons and continents Lowe connects the liberal narrative of freedom overcoming slavery to the expansion of Anglo American empire observing that abstract promises of freedom often obscure their embeddedness within colonial conditions Race and social difference Lowe contends are enduring remainders of colonial processes through which the human is universalized and freed by liberal forms while the peoples who create the conditions of possibility for that freedom are assimilated or forgotten Analyzing the archive of liberalism alongside the colonial state archives from which it has been separated Lowe offers new methods for interpreting the past examining events well documented in archives and those matters absent whether actively suppressed or merely deemed insignificant Lowe invents a mode of reading intimately which defies accepted national boundaries and disrupts given chronologies complicating our conceptions of history politics economics and culture and ultimately knowledge itself

Park, 2022-04-05 As a nation the Philippines has a colonial history with both Spain and the United States. Its links to the Americas are longstanding and complex. Intercolonial Intimacies interrogates the legacy of the Spanish Empire and the cultural hegemony of the United States by analyzing the work of twentieth century Filipino and Latin American writers and diplomats who often read one other and imagined themselves as kin. The relationships between the Philippines and the former colonies of the Spanish Empire in the Americas were strengthened throughout the twentieth century by the consolidation of a discourse of shared even familiar identity. This distinct inherited intercolonial bond was already disengaged from their former colonizer and further used to defy new forms of colonialism. By examining the parallels and points of contact between these Filipino and Latin American writers Paula C. Park elaborates on the intercolonial intimacies that shape a transpacific understanding of coloniality and latinidad.
