All Consuming John M. Efron, 2025-04-29 An engaging 700 year history of meat at the intersection of German and Jewish culture uniquely illuminating the rich fraught and tragic history of German Jewry In Judaism meat is of paramount importance as it constitutes the very focal point of the dietary laws With an intricate set of codified regulations concerning forbidden and permissible meats highly prescribed methods of killing and elaborate rules governing consumption meat is one of the most visible and gustatory markers of Jewish distinctness and social separation It is an object of tangible touchable and tastable difference like no other In All Consuming historian John M Efron focuses on the contested culture of meat and its role in the formation of ethnic identities in Germany To an extent not seen elsewhere in Europe Germans have identified thought about studied decried and gladly eaten meat understood to be Jewish Expressions of this engagement are found across the cultural landscape in literature sculpture and visual arts and evident in legal codes and commercial enterprises Likewise Jews in Germany have vigorously defended their meats and the culture and rituals surrounding them by educating Germans and Jews alike about their meaning and relevance Exploring a cultural history that extends some seven hundred years from the Middle Ages to today Efron goes beyond a discussion of dietary laws and ritual slaughter to take a broad view of what meat can tell us about German Jewish identity and culinary culture Jewish and Christian religious sensibilities and religious freedom for minorities in Germany In so doing he provides a singular window into the rich fraught and ultimately tragic history of German Jewry

Gastronomic Judaism as Culinary Midrash Jonathan D. Brumberg-Kraus, 2018-10-29 This book is about what makes food Jewish or better who and how one makes food Jewish Making food Jewish is to negotiate between the local regional and now global foods available to eat and the portable Jewish taste preferences Jews have inherited from their sacred texts and calendars What makes Jewish food Jewish and what makes Jewish eating practices continually viable and meaningful are not fixed dietary rules and norms but rather culinary interpretations and adaptations of them to new times and places culinary midrash Jewish cuisine is a fusion of interactions a reflection of displacement and intentional positioning and re positioning vis a vis sacred texts old and new lands Jewish and non Jewish neighbors old and new family combinations re imaginings of our personal ethnic gender and other identities Jonathan Brumberg Kraus questions Jewish identity in particular and identity generally as something fixed stable and singular and unintentional Jewish food choices are situational often temporary expressions of Jewish identity It addresses the tension between what Jewish authoritative textual sources and their proponents say is Jewish food and Jewish eating and what Jews actually eat So while discussing connections between ancient religious texts and modern Jewish food preferences this book does not stop there Using examples from his experience Brumberg Kraus describes the improvisational characteristics of gastronomic Judaism as the interplay of texts tastes artifacts and everyday practices not only in the classic sacred texts but also in Jewish cookbooks and internet blogs on Jewish home cooking seasonal intensification of Jewish food
