

What is a Map?

Maps are flat drawings that show us where to find places. A map always gives us a bird's eye view. That means that map is a drawing of a place from above. Long ago, the first maps were made in the dirt. Now maps are on paper or on computers. There are many different kinds of maps. A world map shows the whole Earth. Some maps can show us small areas like your neighborhood. We use directions on a map. The top of a map is north. The bottom is south. East is to the right. West is to the left.

This map shows a large area of land called a continent. The continent shown is North America. This map also shows large areas of water. They are called oceans.

1. Is a map flat or round?

2. What does it mean to have a bird's eye view?

3. The map on this page shows a large area of land called a continent. What is the name of the continent shown?

4. What are the four directions on a map called? _____

Tirado, 2025-06-20. Hollywood or History helps classroom teachers include more accurate Latinx stories in their classroom. We believe that when used intentionally and critically, media representations of Latinx communities and histories are powerful tools for high quality curriculum and instruction. Teaching Data Literacy in Social Studies Tamara L. Shreiner, 2024. We are surrounded by data and data visualizations in our everyday lives. To help ensure that students can critically evaluate data and use it to promote social justice, this book outlines principles and practices for teaching data literacy as part of social studies education. The author shows how social studies content and skills can enhance data literacy and its importance in supporting students' historical thinking and civic engagement. Shreiner also provides a rationale for including data literacy in the social studies curriculum and highlights the special knowledge and skills social studies teachers offer in promoting a critical, humanistic form of data literacy. Recognizing that many social studies teachers feel poorly equipped to teach data literacy, this book offers practical advice, summaries of the benefits and challenges to students' guidance for incorporating data literacy across elementary and secondary grades, and strategies to help students analyze, use, and create data visualizations. This important book provides many practical suggestions and powerful visual examples built on sound research that will support educators as they continue to find new ways to integrate data literacy in their history, civics, geography, economics, and other social science classrooms and beyond. Christopher C. Martell, associate professor, University of Massachusetts Boston. Shreiner demonstrates how we use data visualizations to understand and construct arguments about the world around us and provides concrete ideas for how to approach teaching it in social studies classrooms. This book makes teaching data literacy feel relevant, urgent, and most importantly, doable. Sarah McGrew, assistant professor, University of Maryland.
