Capitalist Realism New Architecture In Russia:

Kapitalist Realism Bart Goldhoorn, Philipp Meuser, 2006 This selection of over 50 projects presented in large scale photos as well as complementary ground floor plans and sketches communicates a differentiated impression of post Soviet architecture ranging from the picturesque Vodka Pavilion in the Ostoshenka Forest to the futuristic Main Railway Station in Samara Capitalist Realism focuses on the artistic aspect of architecture in today's Russia and has some architectural surprises in store for the reader A critical insight into the Russian architectural scene that we don't yet know Russia Richard Anderson, 2015-11-15 This book offers a comprehensive account of Russia's architectural production from the late nineteenth century to the present explaining how its architecture was both shaped by and came to embody Russia's rapid cultural, economic and social revolutions over the past century Richard Anderson looks at Russia's complex relationship to global architectural culture exploring the country's central presence in the Rationalism and Constructivism movements of the 1920s as well as its role as a key protagonist during the Cold War Looking deeply at Soviet Russia he brings the relationship between architecture and socialism into focus through detailed case studies that situate buildings and architectural concepts within the socialist milieu of Soviet society He tracks the way Russian architectural institutions departed from the course of modernism being developed in capitalist countries and he reappraises the architecture of the Stalin era and the final decades of the USSR Finally he traces the influence of Soviet conventions on contemporary Russian architecture which is now a more heterogeneous mix of approaches and styles and how it made a lasting and little known impact on territories extending from the Middle East to Central Asia and into China A bold new assessment of Russia's architectural legacy and contemporary contributions this book is a fascinating exploration of a tumultuous place and the creativity that has come from it 32
