Capturing The Criminal Image Capturing The Criminal Image:

Capturing the Criminal Image Jonathan Mathew Finn, 2009 This title traces how the act of representing and watching is central to modern law enforcement Finn analyzes the development of police photography in the 19th century to foreground a critique of three identification practices that are fundamental to current police work Legal Spectatorship Kelli Moore, 2022-05-02 In Legal Spectatorship Kelli Moore traces the political origins of the concept of domestic violence through visual culture in the United States Tracing its appearance in Article IV of the Constitution slave narratives police notation cybernetic theories of affect criminal trials and the look of the battered woman Moore contends that domestic violence refers to more than violence between intimate partners it denotes the mechanisms of racial hierarchy and oppression that undergird republican government in the United States Moore connects the use of photographic evidence of domestic violence in courtrooms which often stands in for women's testimony to slaves silent experience and witnessing of domestic abuse Drawing on Harriet Jacobs's Incidents in the Life of a Slave Girl abolitionist print culture courtroom witness testimony and the work of Hortense Spillers Moore shows how the logic of slavery and antiblack racism also dictates the silencing techniques of the contemporary domestic violence courtroom By positioning testimony on contemporary domestic violence prosecution within the archive of slavery Moore demonstrates that domestic violence and its image are haunted by black bodies black flesh and black freedom Duke University Press Scholars of Color First Book Award recipient Visibility and Control Jeff Heydon, 2021-06-10 Visibility and Control Cameras and Certainty in Governing addresses the ways in which camera produced images are used to support governmental authority The text begins by examining some of the basic levels at which the body interacts with media and then expands the scope of the analysis to consider the use of CCTV in urban environments and how that affects the experience of space This shows how the determination of the subject and the observer is affected by interaction with and exposure to images produced by cameras The relationship between the body and media between media and the determination of space and how media is used to determine the nature of deviance in contemporary Western culture are evaluated as a means of establishing and maintaining authority through images Scholars of media theory surveillance studies and the social sciences will find this book particularly interesting Discourses in Action Klaus Krippendorff, Nour Halabi, 2020-01-20 This interdisciplinary collection brings together leading and emerging scholars of discourse conceptualizing how discursive practices shape social political and even material realities today Discourses in Action presents a wide range of essays that explore fundamental concerns for the social consequences of text talk and discursively informed actions and possibilities of discursive engagement It opens new perspectives on what language does and the differences that scholarly and practical contributions can make Chapters cover diverse topics ranging from political struggles climate change social revolutions ethnicity violence and other often unexpected patterns of discursive consequences Its essays also explore the cultural contingencies that underlie discourse practices which are usually ignored

when analysed from within a taken for granted culture Providing a useful examination of current discourse studies this interdisciplinary volume is ideal for students and researchers within media communication discourse analysis linguistics cultural studies and the sociology of knowledge Unfixed Jennifer Bajorek,2020-02-07 In Unfixed Jennifer Bajorek traces the relationship between photography and decolonial political imagination in Francophone west Africa in the years immediately leading up to and following independence from French colonial rule in 1960 Focusing on images created by photographers based in Senegal and Benin Bajorek draws on formal analyses of images and ethnographic fieldwork with photographers to show how photography not only reflected but also actively contributed to social and political change The proliferation of photographic imagery through studio portraiture bureaucratic ID cards political reportage and photojournalism magazines and more provided the means for west Africans to express their experiences shape public and political discourse and reimagine their world In delineating how west Africans embrace of photography was associated with and helped spur the democratization of political participation and the development of labor and liberation movements Bajorek tells a new history of photography in west Africa one that theorizes photography s capacity for doing decolonial work
