Instructional Communication Competence and Instructor Social Presence: Enhancing Teaching and Learning in the Online Environment Sherwyn Morreale, Patrick R. Lowenthal, Janice Thorpe, Larisa Olesova, 2024-05-16 The coronavirus pandemic mandated unexpected instant transitions to remote learning and accelerated student demand for online courses. As a result, colleges and universities in the U.S. and around the world began and have continued to expand their online courses and degree programs. The online learning industry is projected to pass 370 billion by 2026, and one third of post-secondary school administrators indicate they will continue to offer both remote and online course options even after their campuses completely resume offering in-person face-to-face courses. Students have demonstrated there is an increased demand for online courses as well. A national survey of 1,413 students registered at U.S. higher education institutions in fall 2020 and spring 2021 said their experiences with learning remotely during the pandemic left them with a positive attitude toward online and hybrid courses. This increased interest calls attention to the need for more scholarly examination of online teaching and learning.
