

DANCING ON OUR TURTLE'S BACK

STORIES OF NISHNAABEG RE-CREATION, RESURGENCE AND A NEW EMERGENCE

LEANNE BETASAMOSAKE SIMPSON

This work is alive with insight and creativity. Simpson's words dance through the heart of Anishinaabe resurgence with hope, grace and beauty. It is a must read for everyone interested in re-energizing Indigenous movement throughout Turtle Island. — John Borrows, Robina Professor in Law, Policy and Society, University of Minnesota Law School

Dancing On Our Turtles Back:

Dancing on Our Turtle's Back Leanne Simpson, 2011 By combining provocative prose with photo essay Time and the Suburbs explores the disappearance of cities in North America under the weight of suburban exurban and other forms of development that are changing the way we live and do politics Drawing on social theory from Henri Lefebvre and Guy Debord to Antonio Negri this book reconceptualizes the tasks facing activists and social movements This is both a provocative essay and introduction to important social theory for anyone interested in cities and urban development Decolonizing Freedom Allison Weir, 2024 Freedom is celebrated as the definitive ideal of modern western civilization Yet in western thought and practice the freedom of some has typically been defined through opposition to the unfreedom of others These exclusions are not secondary to a prior concept of freedom but are constitutive exclusions that have shaped the ways in which western theorists define what freedom is Allison Weir draws on Indigenous political philosophies and practices of decolonization grounded in conceptions of relationality and resurgence in dialogue with western philosophies to reconstruct a tradition of relational freedom as a distinctive political conception of freedom a radically democratic mode of engagement and participation in social and political relations with an infinite range of strange and diverse beings perceived as free agents in interdependent relations in a shared world Through the work of Leanne Betasamosake Simpson John Borrows Glen Coulthard Audra Simpson Rauna Kuokkanen Joanne Barker Jodi Byrd James Tully and many others this book traces a tradition of colonial unknowing in western conceptions of freedom from Hobbes through republican and critical theories and explores a countertradition of relations between freedom and collective love exemplified in Leanne Betasamosake Simpson's love of land and Hannah Arendt's love of the world It considers Indigenous modes of world creation as performative affective embodied strategies of democratic life skilled modes of addressing diversity and conflict fear and hostility in practices of freedom that embrace polycentric knowledges and rooted dynamisms in contexts of complexity and constant change Weir argues that Indigenous women's struggles to belong to communities and participate in governance have engendered new theories of relational rights that combine politics of rights and resurgence and calls for a coalitional politics guided by queer and feminist Indigenous models of transformative resurgence Finally Weir proposes an approach to critical theory as a practice of self transformation through openness to the other oriented toward relational freedom Decolonizing the Spirit in Education and Beyond Njoki Nathani Wane, Miglena S. Todorova, Kimberly L. Todd, 2019-12-14 This multidisciplinary collection probes ways in which emerging and established scholars perceive and theorize decolonization and resistance in their own fields of work from education to political and social studies to psychology medicine and beyond In this time of renewed global spiritual awakening indigenous communities are revisiting ways of knowing and evoking theories of resistance informed by communal theories of solidarity Using an intersectional lens chapter authors present or imagine modes of solidarity resistance and political action that subvert colonial and neocolonial formations Placing emphasis on the importance of theorizing the spirit a discourse that is deeply embedded in our unique cultures and ancestries this book is able to capture and better understand these moments and processes of spiritual emergence re emergence An Intersectional Feminist Theory of Moral Responsibility Michelle Ciurria, 2019-12-06 This book develops an intersectional feminist approach to moral responsibility It accomplishes four main goals First it outlines a concise list of the main principles of intersectional feminism Second it uses these principles to critique prevailing philosophical theories of moral responsibility Third it offers an account of moral responsibility that is compatible with the ethos of intersectional feminism And fourth it uses intersectional feminist principles to critique culturally normative responsibility practices This is the first book to provide an explicitly intersectional feminist approach to moral responsibility After identifying the five principles central to intersectional feminism the author demonstrates how influential theories of responsibility are incompatible with these principles She argues that a normatively adequate theory of blame should not be preoccupied with the agency or traits of wrongdoers it should instead underscore and seek to ameliorate oppression and adversity as experienced by the marginalized Apt blame and praise according to her intersectional feminist account is both communicative and functionalist The book concludes with an extensive discussion of culturally embedded responsibility practices including asymmetrically structured conversations and gender and racially biased social spaces An Intersectional Feminist Approach to Moral Responsibility presents a sophisticated and original philosophical account of moral responsibility It will be of interest to philosophers working at the crossroads of moral responsibility feminist philosophy critical race theory queer theory critical disability studies and intersectionality theory Global Warming and the Sweetness of Life Matt Hern, Am Johal, 2019-04-23 Seeking new definitions of ecology in the tar sands of northern Alberta and searching for the sweetness of life in the face of planetary crises Confounded by global warming and in search of an affirmative politics that links ecology with social change Matt Hern and Am Johal set off on a series of road trips to the tar sands of northern Alberta perhaps the world's largest industrial site dedicated to the dirty work of extracting oil from Alberta's vast reserves Traveling from culturally liberal self consciously green Vancouver and aware that our well meaning performances of recycling and climate justice marching are accompanied by constant driving flying heating and fossil fuel consumption Hern and Johal want to talk to people whose lives and fortunes depend on or are imperiled by extraction They are seeking new definitions of ecology built on a renovated politics of land Traveling with them is their friend Joe Sacco infamous journalist and cartoonist teller of complex stories from Gaza to Paris who contributes illustrations and insights and a chapter length comic about the contradictions of life in an oil town The epic scale of the ecological horror is captured through an series of stunning color photos by award winning aerial photographer Louis Helbig Seamlessly combining travelogue sophisticated political analysis and ecological theory speaking both to local residents and to leading scholars the authors propose a new understanding of ecology that links the domination of the other than human world to the domination of humans by humans They argue that any definition of ecology has to start with decolonization and that confronting global warming requires a politics that speaks to a different way of being in the world a reconstituted understanding of the sweetness of life Published with the help of funding from Furthermore a program of the J M Kaplan fund Prairie Rising Jaskiran K Dhillon,2017-04-24 In 2016 Canada s newly elected federal government publically committed to reconciling the social and material deprivation of Indigenous communities across the country Does this outward shift in the Canadian state s approach to longstanding injustices facing Indigenous peoples reflect a transformation with teeth or is it merely a reconstructed attempt at colonial Indigenous settler relations Prairie Rising provides a series of critical reflections about the changing face of settler colonialism in Canada through an ethnographic investigation of Indigenous state relations in the city of Saskatoon Jaskiran Dhillon uncovers how various groups including state agents youth workers and community organizations utilize participatory politics in order to intervene in the lives of Indigenous youth living under conditions of colonial occupation and marginality In doing so this accessibly written book sheds light on the changing forms of settler governance and the interlocking systems of education child welfare and criminal justice that sustain it Dhillon s nuanced and fine grained analysis exposes how the push for inclusionary governance ultimately reinstates colonial settler authority and raises startling questions about the federal New Directions in Theorizing Qualitative Research Norman K. Denzin,James Salvo,2020-03-09 The chapters in this volume collect together perspectives on Indigenous epistemologies These Indigenous ways of knowing pay particular attention to the relational aspects of language culture and place They are not identified as specific themes but as integrated parts of a philosophy for Indigenous epistemologies think within a relational framework so that all aspects are best understood from this perspective Indigenous ways of knowing have resisted colonization and oppression and as such Indigenous research perspectives exemplify a commitment to social justice one that recovers knowledges that have been silenced or subjugated When such knowledge is shared we can see how to challenge oppressive regimes We can see how to seek truth in a relational way that s attendant to being together Indigenous Research takes up issues of social justice in a way that is informed by Indigenous epistemologies an important practice in contemporary research particularly qualitative inquiry Time, Climate Change, Global Racial Capitalism and Decolonial Planetary Ecologies Anna M. Agathangelou,Kyle D. Killian,2022-06-23 This book probes the interconnections of time and ecology in order to spark our imagination and inspire us to re think the planetary ecology and otherwise It presents debates that interrogate and elucidate the anxieties of the known and the unknown of this world and the planetary beyond sifting through temporal accounts of the Anthropocene human beings and climate change The chapters in this edited volume spur conversations with different thought systems and their underlying assumptions about the composition of structures of time and contingent temporalities The authors engage rising temperatures in the oceans and air the consequences intended and unintended of investments in various forms of development and the potential catastrophe unfolding in real time Recent temporal strategies such as mitigation and adaptation to the climate crisis are challenged as they further compound and commodify the inquiry the understanding and responses to environmental degradations extractions and displacements Anti colonial and decolonial debates about the structures of time the planetary and ecology are crucial contributions of this volume Further privileging the vantage points of the colonized and enslaved the authors of this volume challenge dominant universal cyclical and retrospective structures of time and the planetary Through research poetry art and popular cultural analyses the authors attend to the ways that the struggles of the submerged indigenous and black communities for climate justice become coded as a global warming crisis This volume grapples with how racial climate struggles and unrest become mobilized both as a source of paralysis and as an opportunity for further expropriation and expansion of data accumulation markets for settler planetary projects all in the name of global warming Ultimately the authors in this volume argue that conventional attempts at exploiting the planetary all depend upon ideas of conquest and the mastery and control of ecologies global governance and individual behaviors In this sense fears about the unknown future of our planet miss what is at stake in the structures of time the question of creation and invention The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the journal Globalizations
