Cultural Locations Of Disability:

Cultural Locations of Disability Sharon L. Snyder, David T. Mitchell, 2010-01-26 In Cultural Locations of Disability Sharon L. Snyder and David T. Mitchell trace how disabled people came to be viewed as biologically deviant. The eugenics era pioneered techniques that managed defectives through the application of therapies, invasive case histories, and acute surveillance techniques, turning disabled persons into subjects for a readily available research pool. In its pursuit of normalization, eugenics implemented disability regulations that included charity systems, marriage laws, sterilization, institutionalization, and even extermination. Enacted in enclosed disability locations, these practices ultimately resulted in expectations of segregation from the mainstream, leaving today's disability politics to focus on reintegration, visibility, inclusion, and the right of meaningful public participation. Snyder and Mitchell reveal cracks in the social production of human variation as aberrancy. From our modern obsessions with tidiness and cleanliness to our desire to attain perfect bodies, notions of disabilities as examples of human insufficiency proliferate. These disability practices infuse more general modes of social obedience at work today. Consequently, this important study explains how disabled people are instrumental to charting the passage from a disciplinary society to one based upon regulation of the self.

The Disability Studies Reader Lennard J. Davis, 2013 The Fourth Edition of the Disability Studies Reader breaks new ground by emphasizing the global, transgender, homonational, and posthuman conceptions of disability. Including physical disabilities but exploring issues around pain, mental disability, and invisible disabilities, this edition explores more varieties of bodily and mental experience. New histories of the legal, social, and cultural give a broader picture of disability than ever before. Now available for the first time in eBook format. 978 0 203 07788 7

The Feminist Political Campaign for Eugenic Legislation in New Jersey, 1910-1942 Alan R. Rushton, 2023-01-12 As this book shows, between 1910 and 1942 social feminists in New Jersey waged an unsuccessful campaign for legislation that would permit eugenic sterilization of feeble-minded and other undesirable citizens. Church archives and religious periodicals described the conflict between Catholic and Protestant citizens regarding this issue. Reform-minded women persisted in their quest for such progressive state legislation despite repeated failures. Their number of potential voters was very small compared to the organized bloc of Catholic citizens who viewed such legislation as immoral and based on bad science and threatened to unseat any legislator who supported such a notion. This insightful text highlights that public officials would only enact such laws when they were convinced that many citizens supported a particular eugenic goal and then would vote for legislators who satisfied this moral challenge. Public opinion was unprepared for such radical legislation in New Jersey, and legislators learned that to even consider a eugenic sterilization notion would be political suicide.

Refusing to Be Made Whole Anna LaQuawn Hinton, 2025-03-17 In Refusing to Be Made Whole, Disability in Black Women's Writing, author Anna LaQuawn Hinton examines how contemporary Black women writers present becoming disabled as a traumatic and violent experience of Black womanhood. Nevertheless, Black women embrace disabled Black womanhood by turning to Africanist spiritual understandings of wholeness which view debilitating injury and illness as not only physical but also spiritual not just an individual problem but a symptom of discord in the community Black women use these belief systems to reimagine healing in ways that make space for a variety of bodymindspirits Hinton maintains that this is not only a major theme in contemporary Black women's writing but that it also shapes the formal elements characteristic of the Black women's literary tradition Refusing to Be Made Whole analyzes texts published after the civil rights movements of the 1950s and 1960s focusing particularly on the late 1970s onward when Black women's writing flourished Through the lens of writings by authors such as Toni Cade Bambara Gayl Jones Gloria Naylor Ntozake Shange Audre Lorde Alice Walker Toni Morrison Octavia Butler Sapphire and Sarah E Wright Hinton addresses prominent critical discourses within Black feminist literary studies Hinton approaches the intersections of Africanist spirituality race gender class and disability conversations about representation community motherhood and sexuality through a Black feminist disability studies framework Refusing to Be Made Whole embraces the complex and multifaceted nature of Black women's writing arguing that through this collision of race gender and spirituality Black women writers speak healing and wellness into their readers lives and their own
