Culture and Environment Irwin Altman, Martin M. Chemers, 1984-05-25 It covers a wide range of topics dealing with the complex relationship between people and the environment     Culture and Environment Frank Raymond Leavis, Denys Thompson, 1937 This book is an examination of the different factors which affect the taste and interests of the ordinary individual of to day a candid analysis of the various influences which Advertising the Films and the Popular Press bring to bear and a vigorous attempt to point the way to a more direct sensitive and unprejudiced approach to literature and the arts in general     Institutional Patterns and Organizations Lynne G. Zucker, 1988     Culture and Environment Frank Raymond Leavis, 1933     Environment and Culture Irwin Altman, Joachim F. Wohlwill, 1980-04-30 Following upon the first two volumes in this series which dealt with a broad spectrum of topics in the environment and behavior field ranging from theoretical to applied and including disciplinary interdisciplinary and professionally oriented approaches we have chosen to devote subsequent volumes to more specifically defined topics Thus Volume Three dealt with Children and the Environment seen from the combined perspective of researchers in environmental and developmental psychology The present volume has a similarly topical coverage dealing with the complex set of relationships between culture and the physical environment It is broad and necessarily eclectic with respect to content theory methodology and epistemological stance and the contributors to it represent a wide variety of fields and disciplines including psychology geography anthropology economics and environmental design We were fortunate to enlist the collaboration of Amos Rapoport in the organization and editing of this volume as he brings to this task a particularly pertinent perspective that combines anthropology and architecture Volume Five of the series presently in preparation will cover the subject of behavioral science aspects of transportation Irwin Altman Joachim F Wohlwill ix Contents Introduction 1 CHAPTER 1 CROSS CULTURAL ASPECTS OF ENVIRONMENTAL DESIGN AMOS RAPOPORT Introduction 7 Culture 9 Environmental Design 10 The Relationship of Culture and Environmental Design 15 The Variability of Culture Environment Relations 19 Culture Specific Environments 26 Designing for Culture 30 Implications for the Future 39 References 42 CHAPTER 2 CROSS CULTURAL RESEARCH METHODS STRATEGIES PROBLEMS Applications RICHARD W     Culture, Environment and Ecopolitics Nick Heffernan, David A. Wragg, 2020-05-15 Culture Environment and Ecopolitics brings together a series of new reflections on historical and current ecological and environmental predicaments By way of critical interventions in environmental thought and through engagements with literary visual architectural philosophical and more general cultural studies scholarship this collection of essays by an international panel of writers breaks new interpretative ground While technology has in some quarters been elevated to a master discourse of humanity's salvation charged with providing a magical fix for planetary ecological dilemmas the focus of our volume is on the importance of cultural reflection for bringing matters of local and global import to light Moving from the abstractions of eco critical utopianisms to the concrete identity of the land in the poetry of John Clare from British Petroleum's attempts to rebrand climate change to examples of eco architecture and much more besides these essays exemplify ways in which eco political thought and practice might now be theorized. The collection is framed by a substantial editors introduction which offers but one contextualization of the ideas and critical trajectories that follow. Culture

Environment and Ecopolitics will allow readers to discover original intersections and argumentative cross references across contested terrains in a world increasingly troubled by ecological crises

Nature Across Cultures

Helaine Selin, 2013-04-17. Nature Across Cultures: Views of Nature and the Environment in Non Western Cultures consists of about 25 essays dealing with the environmental knowledge and beliefs of cultures outside of the United States and Europe. In addition to articles surveying Islamic, Chinese, Native American, Aboriginal, Australian, Indian, Thai and Andean views of nature and the environment among others, the book includes essays on Environmentalism and Images of the Other, Traditional Ecological Knowledge, Worldviews and Ecology, Rethinking the Western/non Western Divide and Landscape, Nature and Culture. The essays address the connections between nature and culture and relate the environmental practices to the cultures which produced them. Each essay contains an extensive bibliography. Because the geographic range is global, the book fills a gap in both environmental history and in cultural studies. It should find a place on the bookshelves of advanced undergraduate students, graduate students and scholars as well as in libraries serving those groups.

Culture, Environment and Food to Prevent Vitamin A Deficiency

Harriet V. Kuhnlein, Gretel H. Pelto, International Development Research Centre (Canada), International Nutrition Foundation for Developing Countries, 1997. Culture, Environment and Food to Prevent Vitamin A Deficiency

Culture and Environment, 2019-07-01. The inspiration for this book arose out of a large international conference, the ninth World Environmental Education Congress (WEEC), organized under the theme of Culture, Environment. Similarly, the theme for this book focuses on the Culture, Environment nexus. The book is divided into two parts. Part 1 consists of a series of research studies from an eclectic selection of researchers from all corners of the globe. Part 2 consists of a series of case studies of practice selected from a wide diversity of K-Postsecondary educators. The intent behind these selections is to augment and highlight the diversity of both cultural method and cultural voice in our descriptions of environmental education practice. The chapters focus on a multi-disciplinary view of Environmental Education with a developing view that Culture and Environment may be inseparable and arise from and within each other. Cultural change is also a necessary condition and a requirement to rebuild and reinvent our relationship with nature and to live more sustainably. The chapters address the spirit of supporting our praxis and are therefore directed towards both an educator and researcher audience. Each chapter describes original research or curriculum development work.

Environment and Culture Irwin Altman, Joachim F. Wohlwill, 2013-06-09. Following upon the first two volumes in this series which dealt with a broad spectrum of topics in the environment and behavior field ranging from theoretical to applied and including disciplinary, interdisciplinary and professionally oriented approaches, we have chosen to devote subsequent volumes to more specifically defined topics. Thus Volume Three dealt with Children and the Environment seen from the combined perspective of researchers in environmental and developmental psychology. The present volume has a similarly topical coverage dealing with the complex set of relationships between culture and the physical environment. It is broad and necessarily eclectic with respect to content, theory, methodology and epistemological stance and the contributors to it represent a wide variety of fields and disciplines including psychology, geography, anthropology, economics and environmental design. We were fortunate to enlist the collaboration of Amos Rapoport in the organization and editing of this volume as he brings to this task a particularly pertinent perspective that combines anthropology and architecture. Volume Five of the series presently in preparation will cover the subject of behavioral science aspects of transportation. Irwin Altman, Joachim F. Wohlwill, ix.

Culture, Environment, and Conservation in the Appalachian South Benita J. Howell, 2002

Focusing on the mountainous area from northern Alabama to West Virginia, this important volume explores the historic and contemporary interrelations between culture and environment in a region that has been plagued by land misuse and damaging stereotypes of its people. Committed to taking account of humankind's place in the environment, this collection is a timely contribution to debates over land use and conservation. Debunking the nature-culture dichotomy, contributors examine how physical space is transformed into culturally constituted place by a variety of factors, both tangible (architecture, landmarks, artifacts) and intangible (a sense of place, long-term family habitation, land tradition, a way of life). Worth fighting for, Archaeologists, cultural geographers, and ethnographers examine how the land was used by its earliest inhabitants and trace the effects of agricultural decline, industrial development, and tourism in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. Name of progress or conservation and track threatened communities' struggles to maintain their claims to place in the face of extralocal counterclaims that would appropriate space and resources for other purposes, such as mountaintop removal of coal.

or a power company's plans to export electricity from Appalachia to distant urban centers. Contributors also record successful community planning ventures that have achieved creative solutions to seemingly intransigent conflicts between demands for economic wealth and environmental health. Man and Culture Clark Wissler, 1923. A group of lectures given by Wissler at the State Universities of Michigan, Iowa, Nebraska, and Kansas, and also before the Anthropological Society of St. Louis and the Galton Society of New York. The object of these lectures was to present the problems and scope of contemporary anthropology and recognizing that the most pertinent question before us as a people is the relation of civilization to man. The emphasis in these pages has been placed upon culture and its biological background. Irrigation Civilizations, 1955. The Problem of Nature David Arnold, 1996. Community Culture and the Environment, 2002.

The American Journal of Sociology Albion W. Small, Ellsworth Faris, Ernest Watson Burgess, 1918. Established in 1895 as the first U.S. scholarly journal in its field, AJS remains a leading voice for analysis and research in the social sciences, presenting work on the theory, methods, practice, and history of sociology. AJS also seeks the application of perspectives from other social sciences and publishes papers by psychologists, anthropologists, statisticians, economists, educators, historians, and political scientists. American Anthropologist, 1930. Changing the Face of the Earth I. G. Simmons, 1996-12-23. This is a history of the impact of humankind on the natural environment from earliest times to the present. The first edition has been widely adopted in universities, acclaimed both for its wide scholarship and its author's readable style. The new edition is fully revised throughout and takes account of comments and suggestions received from all over the world. It has been restructured into a form appropriate for new methods of university teaching, the diagrams have been clarified and references and sections of further reading provided at the end of each chapter.
