Borders and Origins Claudio Bolzman, Laura Bernardi, Jean-Marie Le Goff, 2017-10-25 This open access wide ranging collation of papers examines a host of issues in studying second generation immigrants their life courses and their relations with older generations Tightly focused on methodological aspects both quantitative and qualitative the volume features the work of authors from numerous countries from differing disciplines and approaches A key addition in a corpus of literature which has until now been restricted to studying the childhood adolescence and youth of the children of immigrants the material includes analysis of longitudinal and transnational efforts to address challenges such as defining the population to be studied and the difficulties of follow up research that spans both time and geographic space In addition to perceptive reviews of extant literature chapters also detail work in surveying the children of immigrants in Europe the USA and elsewhere Authors address key questions such as the complexities of surveying each generation in families where parents have migrated and left children in their country of origin and the epistemological advances in methodology which now challenge assumptions based on the Westphalian nation state paradigm The book is in part an outgrowth of temporal factors immigrants children are now reaching adulthood in more significant numbers but also reflects the added sophistication and sensitivity of social science surveys In linking theoretical and methodological factors it shows just how much the study of these second generations and their families can be enriched by evolving methodologies This book is open access under a CC BY license Breaking Rules: The Social and Situational Dynamics of Young People's Urban Crime Per-Olof H.

Wikström,2012-05-24 Breaking new ground in the study of crime in urban environments Breaking Rules The Social and Situational Dynamics of Young People s Urban Crime examines the findings theoretical basis and new methodology of The Peterborough Adolescent and Young Adult Development Study PADS This major longitudinal study investigates the role of the social environment on crime causation involving a cohort of 700 young people from the age of 12 A particular aim of PADS is to employ a new theory known as Situational Action Theory as well as the innovative methodology of econometrics combined with space time budgets to improve the study of young people s offending and its changes By reviewing the current literature and analysing the theoretical and methodological problems of previous research the book explains how Situational Action Theory can help overcome central problems in criminological theorising Using this new and innovative framework it presents an analysis of the urban structure of Peterborough and its correlation to the differences in social life found in that area The variations in the urban environment are examined in terms of crime victimization and fear of crime and a detailed examination of young persons crime and its spatial patterns is offered through the unique space time budget data collected within PADS that enables analyses of young people their movements and crime involvement With implications for policy and prevention as well as being the first study of its kind this book should be of great interest to policy makers and practitioners interested in issues of urban environments as well as those studying crime in the urban environment and the role of the social environment in crime causation Outlines and Highlights for Calendar and Time Diary Methods in Life Course Research by Robert F Belli, Isbn
