The text shows how knowledge of education foundations and history can help teachers understand the organization of today's schools, the content of contemporary curriculum and the methods of modern teaching. It likewise shows how teachers can use such knowledge when thinking about and responding to headline issues like charter schools, vouchers, standards testing and bilingual education to name just a few. Central to this text is a belief that schools can and must be places of extraordinary educational quality and institutions in the service of social justice. Thus the authors address head on tensions between principles of democratic schooling and competition for always scarce high quality opportunities. Woven through the text are the voices of a diverse group of teachers who share their analyses and personal anecdotes concerning what teaching to change the world means and involves.
