Geriatric Psychiatry Review and Exam Preparation Guide Mark Rapoport, Andrew Wiens, Dallas Seitz, Evan Lilly, 2017-01-06 Geriatric psychiatry is a relatively young discipline within the field of North American psychiatry. The development of a workforce to meet the needs of an aging population has been identified as an urgent priority but there is still much we don't know about fulfilling the mental health needs of older adults. For Mark J Rapoport, geriatric psychiatrists must assess and treat patients today in face of the limitations of what we know but also be armed with enthusiasm to create novel ways of impacting on the quality of life of older patients with mental illness. The chapters in this book include case scenarios, concise point form summaries of diagnostic and treatment approaches, up to date evidence syntheses, discussions of controversies and a series of practical and thought provoking questions and answers. Geriatric Psychiatry is a succinct and advanced review of geriatric psychiatry that will help clinicians improve the psychiatric care of an aging population. Open educational resources: policy, costs, transformation Miao, Fengchun, Mishra, Sanjaya, McGreal, Rory, 2016-04-18

Absolute Addiction Psychiatry Review Carla Marienfeld, 2020-03-06 This book serves as a tool for general psychiatrists, medical students, residents, and fellows looking for a clinically relevant and high yield overview of addiction psychiatry in preparation for their board exams or for everyday clinical practice. Written by expert educators in addiction psychiatry, the text is organized by substances misused and populations affected. This book serves as both a primary learning tool for those new to the field as well as a reference for those working in addiction treatment. Each chapter begins with summaries of high yield clinical pearls followed by general information including treatment and then ends with accompanying board style review questions. The scope includes understanding substances of misuse and substance use disorders, SUDs, how to evaluate, diagnose and monitor SUDs, how to treat SUDs both pharmacologically and behaviorally, and critical information for specific populations of patients. Absolute Addiction Psychiatry for Clinical Practice and Review is an excellent resource for all medical students, residents, fellows, and professionals taking certification exams in addiction, including those in psychiatry, addiction medicine, emergency medicine, internal medicine, pain medicine, and others. The chapter Laboratory Testing for Substance Use Disorders is available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License via link.springer.com.

The American Psychiatric Association Practice Guideline for the Pharmacological Treatment of Patients With Alcohol Use Disorder American Psychiatric Association, 2018-01-11 Alcohol use disorder (AUD) is a major public health problem in the United States. The estimated 12-month and lifetime prevalence values for AUD are 13.9% and 29.1% respectively, with approximately half of individuals with lifetime AUD having a severe disorder. AUD and its sequelae also account for significant excess mortality and cost the United States more than 200 billion annually. Despite its high prevalence and numerous negative consequences, AUD remains undertreated. In fact, fewer than 1 in 10 individuals in the United States with a 12 month diagnosis of AUD receive any treatment. Nevertheless, effective and evidence based interventions are available and treatment is associated with reductions in the risk of relapse and AUD associated mortality. The American Psychiatric Association Practice Guideline for the Pharmacological Treatment of Patients With Alcohol Use Disorder seeks to reduce these substantial psychosocial and public health consequences of AUD for millions of affected individuals. The guideline focuses specifically on evidence based pharmacological treatments for AUD in outpatient settings and includes additional information on assessment and treatment planning which are an integral part of using pharmacotherapy to treat AUD. In addition to reviewing the available evidence on the use of AUD pharmacotherapy, the guideline offers clear, concise and actionable recommendation statements, each of which is given a rating that reflects the level of confidence that potential benefits of an intervention outweigh potential harms. The guideline provides guidance on implementing these recommendations into clinical practice with the goal of improving quality of care and treatment outcomes of AUD.

Madness and Creativity: Yes, No or Maybe? Anna Abraham, 2015-11-23

The pervasive idea that madness and creativity are intricately linked is one that holds tremendous fascination for both scientists and the general public alike. Although this view was at first largely driven by anecdotal evidence showcasing the manifestation of mental illness in individuals who exhibited extraordinary levels of creativity in various spheres of life, it initiated a strong impetus to empirically investigate the association between mental health and creativity. A variety of approaches and combinations of approaches have been adopted to address this association, including clinical, personality, psychometric, behavioral, cognitive, historiometric, and neuroscientific. Despite the ever accumulating body of evidence over the past six decades investigating this link, what is lacking is a comprehensive overview of the disparate findings from these different approaches that will enable us to address the question of whether there is an empirically founded relationship between creativity and mental illness. And if such a link does exist, what is the nature of this association? The purpose of this Research Topic was to motivate theorists and researchers to answer this question or at least attempt to do so given the available evidence thus far. The themes of interest that were open to exploration in view of this topic included:

- a Which mental disorders are positively associated with creativity
- b Which mental disorders are negatively associated with creativity
- c The dynamics of information processing biases positive versus negative associated with psychiatric and high risk populations
- d Theories regarding the madness creativity link
- e Personality based studies on creativity
- f Creativity, mental illness and the brain
- g Genes and creativity
- h How can studies on neurological populations inform this debate?
- i What are the areas of impact with regard to real world applications and practice?
- j Historical timeline of this question
- k Evolutionary perspectives on the madness creativity link
- l Methodological problems associated with this field
- m Philosophical issues to bear in mind when investigating this domain
- n The usefulness of the troubled genius concept

The invitation to contribute was open to all interested academics regardless of whether they were seasoned explorers within this field of study or just beginning to get their feet wet in its murky waters As a result of adopting this inclusive approach the contributions showcase a wide variety of perspectives from academic departments and institutions the world over What is most encouraging is that so many were willing to openly take on the challenge of tackling this difficult question head on We hope future discussions that follow through as a result of this collective effort will prove to be just as fruitful

Advances in Neuromodulation Treatment of Parkinson's Disease and Aging-Related Movement Disorders Kailiang Wang,Fangang Meng,Yuqing Zhang,Adolfo Ramirez-Zamora,Shin-Yuan Chen,2024-04-22 Parkinson s disease PD is an age related neurodegenerative disorder characterized by progressive motor disability with a spectrum of non motor symptoms Similar to Parkinson s disease essential tremor dystonia Huntington s disease and other aging related movement disorders are widespread in the elderly with relatively unideal medicine treatment effects In recent years deep brain stimulation DBS has been established as an effective treatment for PD and other aging related movement disorders especially with motor symptoms However there are still many problems to be solved in research work and clinical practice in this field For example it is unclear regarding the most effective stimulation targets or the underlying mechanism of DBS And it is still unknown how to choose the optimal targets among STN GPi PSA VIM etc or if we could choose the nerve fiber for stimulation besides the nuclei And despite wearable sensors could be a powerful tool for the digital evaluation of movement disorders or provide the feedback biomarkers for DBS the closed loop biomarkers for DBS are still lacking Furthermore apart from PD the DBS treatment in gene related dystonia Huntington s disease and other movement disorders also needs to be further explored

Privacy in the Digital Age Nancy S. Lind,Erik T.
