Community Ecology Processes Models And Applications:

Community Ecology Herman A. Verhoef, Peter J. Morin, 2009-11-26 Community ecology is the study of the interactions between populations of co existing species This book provides a survey of the state of the art in theory and applications of community ecology with special attention to topology dynamics the importance of spatial and temporal scale as well as applications to emerging problems in human dominated ecosystems including the restoration and reconstruction of viable communities It adopts a mainly theoretical approach and focuses on the use of network based theory which remains little explored in standard community ecology textbooks The book includes discussion of the effects of biotic invasions on natural communities the linking of ecological network structure to empirically measured community properties and dynamics the effects of evolution on community patterns and processes and the integration of fundamental interactions into ecological networks A final chapter indicates future research directions for the discipline This book provides ideal graduate seminar course material

Teachers, Learners, Modes of Practice David Kirk Dirlam, 2017-02-17 Summarizing a half century of work on the problem of identifying units of analysis for complex human behaviour this book introduces modes of practice as a unit of analysis for the science and design of human activities and shows how to record them and create field guides at scales from individual to society Revealing scientific analysis of human practices has been hampered by the lack of a unit of analysis Dirlam describes how the difficulties of defining a unit are overcome by combining insights from mathematics and human development Part II presents methods for developmental surveys and interviews that enable social scientists designers and education or training assessment professionals to gather data on modes of practice Part III provides practical descriptions of how to organize interviews into developmental surveys that can be used by a community Part IV inspires future advances in research and design Concrete examples from science design and learning assessment are used throughout and the appendix includes the results of 300 developmental interviews organized into exploratory descriptions of modes of practice and commitment
