Comparative Mythology, Cultural and Social Studies and the Cultural Category- Factor Correlation Method Muata Ashby, 2007-07 This volume is the exposition of a method for studying and comparing cultures myths and other social aspects of a society Originally published in 2002 it contains an expanded treatment as well as several refinements along with examples of the application of the method Myths and Myth-Makers John Fiske, 1892 The New Comparative Mythology C. Scott Littleton, 1973 Myths and Myths-makers John Fiske, 1889 Comparative mythology. An essay Friedrich Max Mueller (Rt. Hon.), 1909 Origins of the Gods...and One Hundred Schools of Thought John P Foster, 2016-04-21 This book is a fascinating scientific inquiry into the question of how humans came to the existence that we know today The goal for this book is to serve as a handbook of Comparative Mythology A large portion of text is dedicated to retelling condensed versions of the ancient myths of the world so that a beginning scholar may attain a worldly knowledge of cultural myths that they can compare independently In addition to this large body of mythological evidence a Matrix Method of comparable characters is presented such that a common thread of history emerges by comparing outlines of stories from around the world The basic storyline of history includes parts from all religions The history of the world as we currently understand it will dramatically change by three discoveries presented in this book First is evidence and mathematical proof that ancient Earth was struck by a portion of Halley's Comet Second is discovery of an ancient map of the world encrypted into the body of an ancient fresco Third is discovery of a Matrix Method giving mathematical probability to characters often thought purely mythical This book promises to offer the greatest paradigm shift in thinking on human history since Darwin And in doing so it presents a return to many of the greatest arts and literature stories the world has ever known In simple real life stories what the Matrix Method means is that the mythological characters of Father Heaven and Mother Earth show up in most cultural myths as the first set of parents to the world Sea and Sun and Moon are of the second generation Thunder and Underworld are of the third generation Matrix comparison leads to the conclusion that a universal pantheon of founders once existed Where it gets really interesting is the point where recognizable historic figures relate to the same entities as mythical characters Zeus is the same person as Ramses 1 Hera is the same person as Nefertiti and Sara and Ishtar This book will be of interest to artists and scientists as well as historians religious scholars and storytellers Comparative Mythology Friedrich Max Müller, 1989 Comparative Mythology F Max (Friedrich Max) 1823-19 Müller, Palmer Abram Smythe, 2023-07-18 This is a study of the myths and legends of various cultures around the world with an emphasis on similarities and differences between them The authors argue that many seemingly disparate myths can be traced to a common origin and that their study can illuminate fundamental aspects of human psychology and culture This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant
