Chapter 1: About Science

Answers to Chapter 1 Review Questions

1. The use of modern science in the 1600s century was founded when Galileo Galilei revised the Copernican view of the heliocentric universe, using experiments to study nature's behavior.
2. In Conceptual Integrated Science, we believe that focusing on math too-much is a poor substitute for concepts.
3. Not every fact is capable of being proved wrong.
4. Nonfalsifiable hypotheses are typically worthless, they are nonrepeatable and because they are nonfalsifiable—there is no test for possible wrongness.
5. Galileo observed the fallibility of Aristotle's claim with a single experiment—dropping heavy and light objects from the Leaning Tower of Pisa.
6. A verifiable fact is something that experimenters can observe and agree to be true; a hypothesis is an explanation or answer that is capable of being proved wrong; a law is a hypothesis that has been tested over and over and not contradicted; a theory is a synthesis of facts and well-tested hypotheses.
7. An everyday speech, a theory is the same as a hypothesis—a statement that hasn't been tested.
8. The term supernatural literally means "other nature." Because nothing within nature, isn't adheres to natural law.
9. They rely on subjective personal experience and are not based on testable hypotheses. They lie outside the realm of science.
10. Science, art, and religion are much more well-regarded; like strings are a guitar, relativity physics, the theory of relativity can be a chord of personal existence.
11. Science is concerned with gathering facts, logic and organizing it. Technology and business are thus knowledge for practical purposes, and it generates the instruments, equipment used to conduct their investigations.
12. Chemistry builds on physics by adding on how matter is put together, how atoms combine to form molecules, and how the molecules combine to make the materials around us. Biology is more complex than physical science; physics and chemistry; because it involves matter that is alive and, therefore, engaged in complex biochemical processes.
13. Integrated science is valuable because the real-life phenomena we are interested in typically involve processes from more than one branch of science; put another way, we study integrated science because the world is integrated.

Chemistry and Biology: An Investigation of the Butterflies

1. The disciplines of biology and chemistry are needed to understand the behavior of the Antarctic amphipod.
2. The control used in the investigation was the pollen fed to the predator fish that were not treated with non-butterfly extracts. The control was needed to see whether the chemical component isolated from the non-butterfly affected the predator fish.
3. McClelland and Baker's hypothesis was that amphipods carry less butter than because non-butterflies produce a chemical that decreases production of the amphipod. This is a scientific hypothesis because it makes no previous wrong of the assumed chemical was found to not alter amphipod production.
