wild But this was spring And such a spring as had not come to the Canadian north country in many years Until three days ago there had been a deluge Of warm rains and since then the sun had inundated the land with the golden warmth Of summer The last chill was gone from the air and the last bit Of frozen earth and muck from the deepest and blackest swamps North South east and west the wilderness world was a glory Of bursting life of springtime mellowing into summer Ridge upon ridge Of yellows and greens and blacks swept away into the unknown distances like the billows Of a vast sea and between them lay the valleys and swamps the lakes and waterways glad with the rippling song of running waters the sweet scents Of earlyowering time and the joyous voice of all mating creatures Just under Cragg s Ridge lay the paradise a meadow like sweep Of plain that reached down to the edge Of Clearwater Lake with clumps Of poplars and white birch and darker tapestries Of spruce and balsams dotting it like islets in a sea Of verdant green The owers were two weeks ahead of their time and the sweet perfumes Of late June instead of May rose up out Of the plain and already there was nesting in the velvety splashes of timber About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
