Designing Critical Creative Learning Indigenous:

Designing Critical and Creative Learning with Indigenous Youth Donna DeGennaro, 2017-04-13 Designing Critical and Creative Learning with Indigenous Youth A Personal Journey traces the events leading to the creation of Unlocking Silent Histories USH and outlines the program's foundational and methodological principles. The book opens with an explanation of the author's struggles with the theory-practice tension, a conflict that has inhibited the widespread adoption and actualization of socially just learning engagements. She then offers her rationale for taking a leave from academia to concentrate fully on developing a critical pedagogy informed learning design facilitated by combining community connected inquiry with video ethnography. The substance of the text focuses on the identified foundational and methodological principles explained through first-hand accounts of USH's year one participants. These youth-centered chapters assist in presenting an argument for employing culturally responsive and socially just educational engagements. At the same time, the chapters illustrate how drawing on youth voice can more broadly contribute to bridging theory and practice in communities that are often disconnected from the larger educational discourse. The author does not intend to provide a scripted implementation process within USH or of educational in general. Rather, she uses first-hand youth accounts in this cultural context to give the reader a lived experience of how a youth-directed emergent learning path materializes when employing a model that draws on local knowledge and invites youth voice.

The changes included expansion in physical spaces of learning in the classroom, installation of information and communication technologies for multimedia-based learning, large-scale recruitment of graduate teachers, revision of teacher salaries and promotion opportunities, curricular diversity, and research on pedagogies and classroom practices. All children and teachers of the 21st century, regardless of backgrounds, are expected not only to acquire but also to create knowledge. Such changes may, to a certain extent, stimulate changes in classroom cultures as well as in children's experiences in learning. This book captures some of these changes. Architecture + Design, 1987
