Fiscal Year 2013 Chemical Stockpile Emergency Preparedness Program (CSEPP) Cooperative Agreement Guidance (June 2012) U. s. Department of Homeland Security, Federal Emergency Management Agency, 2013-02-01

In 1985 Congress directed the Department of Defense DoD to dispose of its lethal unitary pre mixed chemical agents and munitions while providing maximum protection for the environment the general public and the personnel involved In 1987 the U S Army released a draft Emergency Response Concept Plan ERCP which presented a basis for the development of local emergency response programs and examined various methods of emergency planning The Army also prepared a Chemical Stockpile Disposal Implementation Plan and requested funds to implement enhanced emergency preparedness on post and off post for all eight chemical stockpile sites FEMA joined the Army in implementing CSEPP through a Memorandum of Understanding MOU signed in August 1988 This MOU was reaffirmed in 1993 and revised in 1997 and 2004 CSEPP is a project conducted under the chemical demilitarization program a major defense acquisition program executed by the U S Army CSEPP augments the Army s installation chemical accident and incident response capability The Army is responsible for programming and budgeting validated CSEPP requirements as developed by the State and local governments and validated by FEMA The Deputy Assistant Secretary of the Army for Eliminating Chemical Weapons DASA ECW is responsible for overseeing the CSEPP execution to include coordination with Congress FEMA and the Citizen Advisory Commissions The Chemical Materials Agency executes the day to day management of CSEPP to include upgrading on post response capabilities developing on post preparedness plans conducting on post training automation and integrating on and off post capabilities FEMA is responsible for off post emergency preparedness and works with the States and local governments in the development of preparedness plans conducting necessary training administering cooperative agreements and upgrading response capabilities Off post efforts include command and control public awareness of protective actions communication and alert notification systems e g computer hardware and software telephone and radio upgrades sirens and tone alert radios FEMA assists the States and local governments in planning and validating their CSEPP requirements and distributes funds to the States under cooperative agreements The States and local governments execute plans to protect the public and provide financial and performance reports addressing the capability improvements realized through those funds While the likelihood of a chemical stockpile incident with off post consequences is considered remote the Army and FEMA recognize that the impact of such an event could be significant CSEPP Strategic Plan states the basic goal of CSEPP is to mitigate the effects of an accident to the maximum extent practicable. Thus CSEPP has two basic objectives: 1 To establish and enhance emergency preparedness in nearby communities including community alert and warning systems and protective action strategies; 2 To institute protective measures and hazard mitigation strategies at the chemical stockpile sites, the Army installations to lessen the vulnerability of the storage structures and their contents to any internally or externally generated accidents.

The APBRG's mission was to update the accident basis for protective action strategy planning in the vicinity of eight US chemical agent stockpile sites. The results of the APBRG's work are being issued as site specific Emergency Planning Guides (EPGs). The EPGs give emergency planners Army State and local updated assessment of the chemical hazard and guidance on how to plan for a broad range of accidents by planning for a manageable number of accident categories. This paper addresses 1 the rationale for updating the accident planning base; 2 the modeling methodology used to assess the chemical hazard; and 3 strategies that are advocated in the EPGs for the use of models by planners.

Chemical Stockpile Emergency Preparedness Program United States. Federal Emergency Management Agency, 1992 Chemical Stockpile Emergency Preparedness Program (CSEPP) Recovery Plan Workbook, 2003 The Recovery Plan Workbook is designed for use by U S Army chemical installations and state and local authorities who participate in the Chemical Stockpile Emergency Preparedness Program (CSEPP). The workbook includes a model recovery plan that provides a template for preparation of an integrated CSEPP recovery plan. The workbook also provides background explanatory and reference materials to aid planners. The model plan provides a general example and framework for planning but is not complete without input from the local CSEPP community. Each chemical stockpile location has site specific needs, resources, and organizational differences that will shape recovery planning. Therefore the purpose of the model plan in part is to raise questions that installation state and local planners will have to answer to develop a site specific recovery plan. It is recommended that a single overarching recovery plan be developed to coordinate the activities of the installation state and local jurisdictions at a given site. As stated in Planning Guidance for the CSEPP Appendix M The reentry restoration plan should be integrated and coordinated among the Army installation and other state and local jurisdictions in the IRZ and PAZ The integrated approach is more efficient from a planning perspective compared to separate parallel plans for each jurisdiction and will facilitate coordination among the organizations To be effective many aspects of recovery must also be coordinated For example if several jurisdictions submit competing requests to the Army for monitoring services confusion might result and some important monitoring activities might be delayed A coordinated plan would ensure that monitoring is conducted in proper order of priority A single integrated recovery plan can be designed to accommodate the decision making prerogatives of all included organizations Jurisdiction specific annexes may be appropriate in some cases to accommodate the unique needs of particular jurisdictions An Analysis of Chemical Stockpile Emergency Preparedness Program Exercise Results. Volume 1 ,1998 The primary focus of the Chemical Stockpile Emergency Preparedness Program CSEPP is to enhance the response capabilities of the eight US Army installations that store chemical weapons agent and of the communities immediately surrounding each Army storage installation Exercises are a major component of the program and are conducted annually at each of the eight installations Following each exercise a report summarizing the results of the exercise is produced To gain a better perspective on the site specific and program wide results of these exercises the Project Manager for Chemical Stockpile Emergency Preparedness requested that Argonne National Laboratory develop a database containing the results of exercises held through June 1996 This document provides a summary of the process used to develop the CSEPP Exercise Results Database The database provides CSEPP managers in the Department of the Army and the Federal Emergency Management Agency a method for tracking and analyzing exercise results The report discusses the collection and coding of exercise data and provides tables to guide coding of future exercise results An electronic copy of the database CD ROM accompanies the report This report focuses only on methods used to collect exercise data and develop the database Volume 2 discusses the analysis of the data collected CHEMICAL WEAPONS STOCKPILE: CHANGES NEEDED IN THE MANAGEMENT OF THE EMERGENCY PREPAREDNESS PROGRAM... 158739, B-276238...
