Chattman,2015-04-23 A group of friends Kevin Carl Mike and Susan decided to go hiking in the woods near an abandon cabin As they were walking along the trail they found a gold ancient artifact It looked like a medallion The artifact had strange engraved symbols on it and attached to a long chain The group of friends kept the strange looking artifact with them as they were hiking They took it to the cabin Later that night as they were getting all settled in for the night everyone noticed that it had a strange bright orange glow As the night grew deeper there were a series of unexplained paranormal events began to occur in the cabin From that moment on the camping trip suddenly turned into a frightening moment to surpass The ancient medallion belonged to a Frenchman who dwelled in the area during the 16th and 17th century time period This medallion was oval shaped and carved into stone but was embarrassed with the color of gold Susan found out through her research that Frenchman carved the medallion out of stone and some how it became gold He was a Frenchman of high statue during his time period The medallion was a symbol of great power He often worked on the structure of a castle The group of friend are considering turning the ancient historical medallion in for a reward but paranormal events start to occur in their cabin When they finished their camping trip and returned home The paranormal activity in the house grew stronger and stronger Susan believes the Frenchman wants them to finish some work for him on an abandoned Castle that s many miles away from their house If they don t travel to the abandoned castle where the Frenchman once worked then the paranormal activity will not stop until the medallion is returned to the castle The castle has been abandoned for many centuries and it s now a tourist attraction Susan and her friends are planning a trip to the castle to return the medallion in hopes of being free from the paranormal
