Gu,Tianyi Wang,2025-04-02 This book attempts to answer significant questions such as what is China's developing political economy what are the major principles of socialist political economy with Chinese characteristics and how to achieve economic development From new normal and new development concept to innovation driven development strategy and supply side structural reform to the Belt and Road and new urbanization with people as the core the author explains economic laws and development succinctly and illustrates the key characteristics of Chinese socialist political economy This book features forward looking thinking on China's development explaining that China's development is scientific its sustainable development follows natural laws and inclusive development follows social laws The political economy of China's development is explained in an easy to understand and accessible way The author has cooperated with scholars from the

Party School of the CPC Central Committee and the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences and this book is the cumulative output of his work with fellow researchers and scholars Rising China in the Changing World Economy Liming Wang, 2012-03-12 China's rapid and sustained growth over last thirty years has propelled it to become the world's second largest economy today and potentially the largest in the foreseeable future As one of the first major economies pulling out of recession and the last remaining major socialist country in the world today China presents a challenge to established thinking on the essential primacy of global capitalism and the settled nature of the world system as China becomes more integrated into the world economy and the international system both are themselves potentially transformed as a result of China's involvement This book explores a wide range of issues connected with the impact of China on the global economy and the prevailing international system Subjects covered include China's multinationals international acquisitions the exchange rate research and development and technology transfer China's emerging major business groupings and small and medium sized enterprises

Incentivized Development in China David J. Bulman, 2016-10-18 China's economy as a whole has developed rapidly over the past 35 years and yet its richest county is over 100 times richer in per capita terms than its poorest county To explain this vast variation in development David J Bulman investigates the political foundations of local economic growth in China focusing on the institutional and economic roles of county level leaders and the career incentives that shape their behaviour Through a close examination of six counties complemented by unique nation wide data he presents and explores two related questions what is the role of County Party Secretaries in determining local governance and growth outcomes And why do County Party Secretaries emphasize particular developmental priorities Suitable for scholars of political economy development economics and comparative politics this original study analyzes the relationship between political institutions local governance and leadership roles within Chinese government to explain the growing divergence in economic development between counties

New Directions in China's Agricultural Lending Fred Gale, Robert Callender, 2006 China has substantially boosted lending to farmers agribusiness in recent years The balance of loans to farmers doubled between 2001-2005 Loans for agribusiness rural infrastructure rose as well Rural credit coop banks that lend to agriculture are being reformed commercialized but agriculture lending is still largely policy driven The boost in farm lending is one of several policy initiatives to aid farmers Chinese agriculture remains dominated by extremely small farms using little physical capital but rising investment is helping the sector diversify is improving the quality safety of agriculture produce The campaign to inject capital into rural China is enabled by an abundant supply of domestic savings large inflows of foreign investment Illustrations

30 Years of Urban Change in China's 10 Core Cities Ali Cheshmehzangi, Tian Tang, 2024-12-02 As a continuation of our award winning book China's City Cluster Development in the Race to Carbon Neutrality this book covers China's major urban changes over the last 30 years Unlike the previous book where we highlighted regional development issues this book explicitly explores the city cases particularly those that are considered core cities in China Based on the micro historical analysis of China's urbanization trend and urban development patterns we see that cities in China have played a significant role in driving the country's sustainable development agenda. In a way they have had both positive and negative impacts on achieving sustainable development. We look at these last three decades mainly because during this period China's urbanization became unprecedented. The central government made several pledges and signed many international agreements related to sustainable development and China grew rapidly to become the second global economic power. Aligned with the overarching Belt and Road Initiative (BRI) and the more recent Carbon Neutrality Plan (CNP) Chinese core cities played a significant part in regional development, urban-rural relations, industrial clustering, the development of free trade zones and special economic zones etc. All these recent developments are due to China's ongoing urbanization and urban development. 30 Years of Urban Change in China's 10 Core Cities is a mapping study of China's core cities and their changes over three decades of rapid urbanization, urban growth and economic development. We explicitly highlight each selected city's development trends, sustainable development plans and major strategies. In this Volume out of our two connected volumes we summarise lessons learnt from all 10 case study examples and we hope they can be utilized for other developing and rapidly urbanizing nations. We expect this book to be a valuable resource for local governments, authorities, urban planners, urbanists, practitioners, developers and urban researchers. We trust China is no longer a developing country and much of these recent progressions are owed to its structured urban development strategies, robust governmental structure and progressive attitude to growth and development. Hence this topic coverage at the point where China's urbanization is shifting to high quality urbanization is essential and beneficial to multiple stakeholders.

New Directions in the Social Sciences and Humanities in China Michael B. Yahuda, 1987-06-18    The World Bank Research Program 1998 World Bank

Staff, 1998 The four basic objectives of the World Bank's research program are broadening understanding of development, assisting in developing research capacity in member countries, improving the Bank's capacity in advising members and supporting all aspects of its own operations. The report is the annual compendium of current Bank research. The abstracts in this volume report on research projects within FY98, describing questions addressed, analytical methods used, findings to date and policy implications. In addition, each abstract identifies the expected completion date and the research team, as well as any report or publication produced. The abstracts cover 193 research projects grouped under nine major headings, as follows: 1. poverty and social welfare, 2. labor markets and education, 3. environmentally sustainable development, 4. infrastructure and urban development, 5. macroeconomics, 6. international economics, 7. domestic finance and capital markets, 8. transition economies and 9. private sector development and public sector management. An appendix is included listing reports and publications produced by Bank research, with corresponding availability sources. Abstracts are indexed by the sponsoring unit.
