The Chinese Shar-Pei: A Complete and Comprehensive Owners Guide To: Buying, Owning, Health, Grooming, Training, Obedience, Understanding and Michael Stonewood, 2019-03-28 The Chinese Shar Pei is an ancient breed of dog that originates from China. The breed is known for its distinctive wrinkled skin and strangely colored blue/black tongue. Due to the breed originating in China the breed's name is believed to be derived from the English spelling of the Cantonese equivalent 's p ih' which translates to 'Sand Skin'. The name 'Sand Skin' is a clear reference to the breed's short, rough coat and wrinkled features. The Shar Pei has dramatically more wrinkles during its puppyhood as it grows into its excess skin. Despite their ancient history the Shar Pei was named one of the world's rarest breeds by Time magazine and the Guinness Book of World Records in the late 1970s. The breed's prickly skin was originally developed to help defend the dog against wild boar as the Shar Pei was originally used for hunting purposes. The breed was then used in dog fighting which is where its large amount of excess skin developed. The Shar Pei's excess skin made it hard for other dogs to grab onto and if they did manage to grab ahold on the Shar Pei it still had room to maneuver inside its own skin. Shar Pei's were known to completely twist around in their own skin to bite assailants back. In modern times the Shar Pei has mainly been used as a guard dog and a companion.
