Craigslist In Phoenix:

Bisexuality and Queer Theory Jonathan Alexander, Serena Anderlini-D'Onofrio, 2014-04-10 According to David Halperin sexuality in our time is typified by a crisis in contemporary sexual definition. What is sexuality? What does it mean to have a sexual identity or orientation? What is the relationship between sexuality as a knowledge construct on one hand and the often messy flows of desire and practices of love on the other? How and why are some sexual, erotic and intimate practices normalized and others marginalized? Queer Theory has emerged in the West as one of the most provocative analytical tools in the humanities and social sciences. It scrutinizes identity and social structures that take heteronormativity for granted that do not question the social construction of heterosexuality as normative in relation to its oppositional binary homosexuality. At the same time, bisexuality is a practice, identity and orientation that challenges the binary logic around which cultural notions of sexuality are organized. It is a portal to the imagination of a world of amorous expression beyond that divide. This provocative collection presents bisexuality and queer theory as two parallel thought collectives that have made significant contributions to cultural discourses about sexual and amorous practices since the onset of the AIDS era and explores the ideas that circulate in these thought collectives today. We learn much about the construction and experience of sexuality and the power it still holds throughout the contemporary Western world to shape identities and practices. This volume challenges our understanding of what it means to be sexual, to have a sexual identity and to practise the arts of loving. This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Bisexuality. Performing Sex Breanne Fahs, 2011-11-01 Silver Medalist 2012 Independent Publisher Book Awards in the Women's Issues category. Honorable Mention 2011 ForeWord Book of the Year in the Women's Issues Category. Although conventional wisdom holds that women in the United States today are more sexually liberated than ever before, a number of startling statistics call into question this perceived victory. Over half of all women report having faked orgasms. 45 percent of women find rape fantasies erotic. A growing number of women perform same-sex eroticism for the viewing benefit of men and recent clinical studies label 40 percent of women as sexually dysfunctional. Caught between postsexual revolution celebrations of progress and alarmingly regressive new modes of disempowerment, the forty women interviewed in Performing Sex offer a candid and provocative portrait of liberated sex in America. Through this nuanced and complex study, Breanne Fahs demonstrates that despite the constant cooptation of the terms of sexual freedom, women's sexual subjectivities and the ways they continually grapple with shifting definitions of liberation represent provocative spaces for critical inquiry and personal discovery, ultimately generating novel ways of imagining and reimagining power, pleasure and resistance. Backpage.com's Knowing Facilitation of Online Sex Trafficking United States.
