

THE ENTREPRENEUR'S GUIDE TO PRODUCTIVITY

A 5-STEP DAY PLANNER

Focus on "output" over the other activity in "input".
You can start the day and realize the need to use only what is better than your time to work on your business. Productivity and success in your business is possible when you combine the two. For the most part, I feel there is not too much you can do with learning business. You learn it in the university before learning business. You learn it in the business school learning business. You learn it right away.

1. Business Model Business model is the first step to success. You need to know what you are doing and how you are going to do it.
2. Marketing Marketing is the second step to success. You need to know who you are marketing to and how you are going to do it.
3. Customer Acquisition Customer acquisition is the third step to success. You need to know how you are going to acquire customers and how you are going to keep them.

Business model, marketing, and customer acquisition are the three pillars of success.

New Business

New business is the first step to success. You need to know what you are doing and how you are going to do it. You need to know who you are marketing to and how you are going to do it. You need to know how you are going to acquire customers and how you are going to keep them.

The 80/20 rule is a concept that is based on the idea of getting more output with less input. It is often used to describe the relationship between income and expenses, or sales and the cost of goods sold. The rule states that most of the results come from 20% of the effort, while 80% of the results come from 20% of the effort.

For example, if you work 100 hours, you'll only see 20% growth in your business.
