The Civic and the Tribal State Feliks Gross,1998-12-09 The primordial bonds of early societies common ancestry or tribal bonds and territorial or neighborhood bonds are at the root of early political organization States based on common tribal or ethnic identity have tended to develop into highly nationalistic states The civic state based upon territory appeared in embryonic form in Athens It was Rome however that made the complete transition creating a civic state based on an association of free citizens irrespective of ethnicity The tribal state in its extreme often totalitarian form has led to genocide holocausts and ethnic cleansing The civic or territorial state has developed into modern pluralistic multiethnic democratic states with equal rights for diverse groups This was accomplished by a historical process of separation of ethnicity from citizenship As Feliks Gross shows there are many types of civic and tribal states they do not fit into a single model but they can be grouped into related families This important survey of political and social development will be of great interest to students and scholars of political sociology ethnic studies and political history
