Contemporary Challenges to Identity Politics Kire Sharlamanov, Natalija Shikova, 2026-01-01 This upper level textbook offers a comprehensive interdisciplinary exploration of the complex entanglements between identity formation and political life in the 21st century. Bridging sociology, political science, and law, the book interrogates how identity is constructed, contested, and mobilized within political arenas. From the philosophical underpinnings of identity to its role in the justification of collective rights, the book systematically traces the evolution of identity politics and its influence on legal frameworks, public discourse, and digital culture. In nine chapters, the volume covers diverse themes: the ontological roots of identity, the tensions between liberalism and multiculturalism, the communicative dynamics of political identity in campaigns, the environmentalist aspects of identity, and the legal mechanisms supporting collective rights. Particular attention is paid to the digital realm, where algorithmically mediated interactions reshape identity and intensify polarization. This is an essential resource for advanced students and scholars in political sociology, legal studies, and political theory, providing both foundational insight and contemporary relevance in a rapidly shifting political landscape.

Youth Digital Health and Online Platforms Martyna Gliniecka, 2024-12-27 Youth Digital Health and Online Platforms focuses on young people's use of the digital platform Reddit for health. Drawing upon dialogism theory, the book explores how young people produce a youth-led discourse of youth digital health, different from the adult-led framing represented in youth digital health research, policy, and service delivery. Peer-led discussions online remain one of the controversial forms of youth digital health associated with negative peer influence or casual teenage talk. This book argues that online peer-led dialogues support young people's agency in health and that young people can benefit from dealing with health issues with peers. The work is based on the digital ethnography of teenagers' subreddits on Reddit and utilises a theoretical framework of dialogism, a linguistic-based theory originated by an early 20th century Russian philosopher, Mikhail Bakhtin. The book introduces the concept of dialogical youth-led youth digital health discourse formed in the peer-led space of Reddit. This youth-led discourse celebrates equality and diversity amongst people's meanings and opinions. It is constructed around three relational elements: socio-material affordances, creative practices, and a plurality of youth voices. Reddit's pseudonymous, anti-authoritarian, and egalitarian nature supports the emergence of this youth-led discourse. The book can interest scholars and lecturers in childhood and

The Materiality of Narrative Dynamics Stefan Iversen,Evan Van Tassell,2025-06-02 The dynamic nature of storytelling has long been one of the major concerns of narrative research but relatively little scholarship has engaged with the relationship between storytelling dynamics and the underlying material forms of cultural texts This volume seeks to remedy this by asking questions such as How might the affordances of new media guide audience reception in subtle ways How might the dynamism of legacy media be better recognized when examined through a multimedial lens How do the physical processes of production define the horizons of both authorial activity and audience response The insight that drives these investigations is two fold first that functions and effects of narratives are deeply intertwined with material forces of production distribution and reception and second that an analysis of any specific narrative must include attention to these material matters and how they affect the unfolding of stories over time The chapters in this collection explore interplays between material forces and narrative dynamics across a range of genres and intellectual arenas In doing so they both fill gaps in current methodological frameworks and call attention to the many gaps that are yet to be filled
