Child Development Jeopardy Game

Kevin MacDonald

Child Development Jeopardy Game:

Parent-Child Play Kevin MacDonald, 1993-07-01 This book provides the latest research and theory in the area of children's play with their parents. It includes discussions of the basic processes involved in parent-child play, parent-child play in atypical populations of children, and parent-child play in cross-cultural perspective. An opening section on basic processes provides a general background on the mechanisms involved in play and provides a foundation for the rest of the book. The section on atypical populations focuses on parent-child play among clinical populations including Down syndrome children, premature children, hyperactive children, and economically distressed families and families with depressed parents. It expands the context of the populations data described in the first section and provides some additional insight into mechanisms. Finally, the book describes some of the enormous cross-cultural variations in play behavior. The Ministry of Children's Education Margaret A. Krych, 2004-01-01 This highly anticipated resource establishes the importance of children's education to the life of today's faith communities. A very readable textbook, The Ministry of Children's Education presents foundations for education in the faith, explores contexts in which contemporary faith is nurtured, and suggests practical helps for creating programs that work in congregations.

Early Childhood Report, 2001 Working With Kids Who Bully Walter B. Roberts, Jr., 2016-06-09 Shifting our thinking to help break the cycle of bullying. We all know bullying impacts the academic and emotional lives of our young people. We see it in our schools and hear about it in the news. If we know it's a problem, why is it still happening? Often it's because we fail to address the individuals at the heart of the problem: the kids who engage in the behavior. In Working With Kids Who Bully, Walter Roberts challenges us to shift our thinking about these youth and offers innovative approaches to help kids pull back from and stop bullying. Readers will find information on a range of topics impacting schools today, including cyberbullying, relational aggression, mediation, building empathy, and bibliotherapy. Strategies and sample dialogue to use when intervening with kids who bully. Diagrams and charts to clarify suggested approaches. Written by one of the nation's foremost experts on bullying, this is a book designed to stimulate change and ultimately help create safer learning environments for all kids. Lots of times we focus on helping the victims, but Walter Roberts addresses how to help parents of children who are bullying, as they need tips rather than shaming. Brigitte Tennis, Headmistress, Eighth Grade Teacher, Stella Schola Middle School. The strengths of Working With Kids Who Bully are the vignettes posed, the reflection for analyzing the bullying situation, and the suggestions, almost specific guidance for responding in a timely and empathetic manner. Dana Salles Trevethan, Interim Superintendent, Turlock Unified School District.
