Cherry's Model Engines David Carpenter,2014-09-01 Model engineering is generally considered to be a man thing as men in sheds everywhere don overalls and shape metal into models But arguably the world s greatest model engineer Cherry Hill is in fact a woman And the word models hardly does justice to what she produces For the past several decades Cherry has created scaled down versions of traction engines and not just run of the mill types but elaborate Victorian flights of fancy Extensive research and meticulous design are the secrets of her success She has created almost twenty models over the sixty year period since her father gave her an old lathe from the workshop of his agricultural machinery business One of the most impressive aspects of Cherry s work is that all her engines are fully working and what comes out of her workshops in Worcestershire and Florida is perfection both in terms of design and craftsmanship Every last part even tiny chain links is made in the workshop from metal stock No parts are bought in Once completed all her models are given away early ones to friends and family and later ones to the Institution of Mechanical Engineers Each model typically occupies 7 000 hours work and Cherry s staggering efforts have been rewarded with the highest honours including nine gold medals and an MBE from the Queen for Services to Model Engineering Here for the first time the fruits of her illustrious career are displayed in all their intricate glory for your inspiration and enjoyment
