Children Residential Care Best Practice Guide:

Residential Interventions for Children, Adolescents, and Families Gary M. Blau, Beth Caldwell, Robert E. Lieberman, 2014-06-05 Now more than ever there is a need to ensure that best practices are being used in residential programs. As the focus on costs and outcomes increase residential programs must clearly demonstrate that the interventions provided are efficient and effective. Readers will learn how to Create strength based, empowering and healing environments. Better engage and partner with children, adolescents and families in meaningful ways. Support those who have experienced trauma and loss and to prevent and eliminate the use of restraint and seclusion. Respect and include cultural indices in practices. Train, mentor, supervise, support and empower staff about how to deliver promising and best practices and evidence informed and evidence based interventions and Track long term outcomes and create funding strategies to better support sustained positive outcomes. This book encourages readers to think strategically about how agencies, communities and systems can identify and implement actions that lead to positive change and how to work more collaboratively to improve the lives of children and adolescents who have experienced emotional and behavioral life challenges and their families.

Public Management Occasional Papers Contracting Out Government Services Best Practice Guidelines and Case Studies No. 20

OECD, 1998-01-19 This report presents the OECD Best Practice Guidelines for Contracting Out Government Services and accompanying case studies. CWLA Best Practice Guidelines Julie F. Gwin, 2004. Children's Rights to Participate in Out-of-Home Care Claudia Equit, Jade Purtell, 2022-11-30 For centuries, residential child and youth care systems worldwide have provided homes for vulnerable children and adolescents. The implementation of children's rights, especially the right of participation, is assessed as an important base for promoting the best interests of the child in an out-of-home care environment. Featuring contributions from distinguished international authors, this volume offers an in-depth understanding of crucial participation processes and underlying power structures when involving young people in decision making about their care and everyday life in different out-of-home care institutions. Contributions cover a broad spectrum of current research findings concerning the participation of young people in foster families and residential living groups in Australia, Canada, Germany, Ireland, Italy, Portugal, Norway, Sweden, and Switzerland, as well as cross-national perspectives on children and young people's participation in foster and residential care placements in Great Britain and France. The volume fills major gaps concerning the participation of young people in different out-of-home care and policy settings and will be required reading for policymakers, researchers, practitioners, scholars, and students interested in increasing opportunities for young people's participation and creating better out-of-home care settings for vulnerable young people. Training the Future Child Health Care Workforce to Improve the Behavioral Health of Children, Youth, and Families National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Health and Medicine Division, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Board on Children, Youth, and Families, Forum on Promoting Children's Cognitive, Affective, and Behavioral Health, 2017-10-30 Increasing numbers of evidence based interventions have proven effective in preventing and treating behavioral disorders in children. However the adoption of these interventions in the health care system and other systems that affect the lives of children has been slow. Moreover with few exceptions current training in many fields that involve the behavioral health of children falls short of meeting the needs that exist. In general this training fails to recognize that behavioral health disorders are among the largest challenges in child health and that changing cognitive, affective and behavioral health outcomes for children will require new and more integrated forms of care at a population level in the United States. To examine the need for workforce development across the range of health care professions working with children and families as well as to identify innovative training models and levers to enhance training the Forum on Promoting Children's Cognitive, Affective and Behavioral Health held a workshop in November 2016. Workshop panelists and participants discussed the needs for workforce development across the range of health care professions working with children, youth and families and identified innovative training models and levers for change to enhance training. This publication summarizes the presentations and discussions from the workshop.

Peer Violence in Children's Residential Care C. Barter, E. Renold, D. Berridge, P. Cawson, 2004-07-12. Much concern has been expressed about the scandal of physical and sexual abuse by care workers of children living in residential homes but this is the first detailed study of the major problem of violence between children. Based on extensive interviews with young people as well as staff, children's own perspectives and experiences of violence are highlighted. There is important new information about different levels of violence between homes, the significance of gender and group hierarchies and strategies to tackle violence.

Community Care Practice and the Law Michael Mandelstam, 2005. This third edition of Community Care Practice and the Law has been substantially rewritten and restructured to reflect the rapid legal and policy changes affecting the community care field. It provides comprehensive and jargon free explanations of both community care legislation and other areas of the law directly relevant to practitioners. Topics covered include assessment and eligibility criteria, fair access to care and waiting times, placing people in care homes, non-residential domiciliary and home care services, carers assessments and services, home adaptations and disabled facilities grants, direct payments, continuing health care and health services generally, including community equipment services, joint working between local authorities and the NHS, single assessment process, intermediate care, decision making, capacity and incapacity, information sharing, adult protection, human rights and disability discrimination, health and safety at work legislation, including manual handling, people subject to immigration control, including asylum seekers, care standards. Numerous examples of legal cases and ombudsman investigations clearly illustrate the practical impact of legislation on community care. A separate chapter provides an at a glance view of the whole range of legislation underpinning the everyday work of practitioners. The author also identifies the underlying mechanisms, tensions and problems affecting community care law and practice. Primarily covering England in detail, much of the legal case law covered
