Hallas' The Care of People with Intellectual Disabilities, 9Ed Charles Henry Hallas, 1998 This classic text presents current best practice in the multi professional care of people with intellectual disabilities It has been planned so that it can be used as a ready reference on what each discipline contributes and as a literature source Most importantly it provides benchmarks for quality of care It can be used as a manual in primary health care in hospital settings and in resource centres As institutions close and community care develops there is a new thrust to educate primary health care professionals to work in different ways and with a wider range of clients The book has therefore been largely rewritten to address health needs in this changing context However with its strong practical emphasis and a first class team of writers the book remains a key introductory text     Nursing Times, Nursing Mirror ,1994     Social Service Abstracts ,1995     Therapeutic Communities ,1996     Interprofessional Education Caroline Carlisle,Tom Donovan,Dave Mercer,2005     Emotional Milestones from Birth to Adulthood Ruth Schmidt Neven,1997 Neven offers parents carers and teachers a conceptual framework for understanding and facilitating child and family development The psychodynamic approach combines theoretical understanding and practical observation to create a new perspective     Canadian Social Work Review ,2003     Durable Solutions Mathew Thorpe,Rosemary Budden,2006 The papers of the 2005 Interdisciplinary Conference at Dartington Hall     Register of Educational Research in the United Kingdom ,1995     The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells,2001     Books in Print Supplement ,2002     Books in Print ,1994     Collaborative Practice Robbie W. Tourse,Jean Mooney,1999-07-30 Tourse Mooney and their contributors argue that schools alone can no longer meet the complex needs of children and adolescents The overwhelming needs of school children require that schools institute massive coordinated and collaborative efforts among various disciplines and agencies The authors propose a restructuring of schools and social service systems to respond to the needs for interprofessional collaboration While they focus primarily on the collaboration of social work and education they look beyond that to relationships with other allied disciplines in public schools and explore collaborative linkages with nursing law counseling pastoral counseling and other agents of society The collection culminates with an examination of the realities of interprofessional collaboration in urban and suburban communities This is an important guide for researchers policy makers and professional educators involved with school reform and systems change in the United States
