Chinese War Account Operations Commencement:

The Chinese War Lieutenant John Ouchterlony, 2012-11-16 An invaluable account of the first of the 19th century Opium Wars between Britain and China for control of the debilitating and dangerous but highly profitable drugs trade The author an Indian Army officer of the Madras Engineers witnessed many of the events he describes The action moves from Hong Kong to Canton Shanghai and finally Nanking where the outgunned Chinese are compelled to sign a treaty ending the conflict The author is critical of the ignorance and cruelty of the Chinese character but praises their courage and cultural artefacts such as the Great Wall and Nanking s Porcelain Tower In his account of the Chinese astonishment at such western technology as steam ships and horse drawn guns he reflects the reality of a vast but backward civilisation encountering the fruits of the industrial revolution it would one day enthusiastically emulate Well illustrated with 53 engravings from original drawings by the author and six maps , A catalogue of the library of the North China branch of the Royal Asiatic society ... systematically classed Henri Cordier, 1872 *A Catalogue of the Library of the North China Branch of the Royal Asiatic Society-including the Library of Alex.
