1. A crate filled with delicious junk food rests on a horizontal floor. Only gravity and the support force of the floor act on it, as shown by the vectors for weight W and normal force n .

- The net force on the crate is (zero) (greater than zero).
- Evidence for this is no acceleration.

2. A slight pull P is exerted on the crate, not enough to move it.

- The force of friction f acting on the crate is (less than) (equal to) (greater than) P .
- The net force on the crate is (zero) (greater than zero).

3. Pull P is increased until the crate begins to move. It is pulled so that it moves with constant velocity across the floor.

- Friction f is (less than) (equal to) (greater than) P .
- Constant velocity means acceleration is (zero) (greater than zero).
- The net force on the crate is (less than) (equal to) (greater than) zero.

4. Pull P is further increased and is now greater than friction f .

- The net force on the crate is (less than) (equal to) (greater than) zero.
- The net force acts toward the right, so acceleration acts toward the (left) (right).

- If the pulling force P is 150 N and the crate doesn't move, what is the magnitude of f ? 150 N
- If the pulling force P is 200 N and the crate doesn't move, what is the magnitude of f ? 200 N
- If the force of sliding friction is 250 N, what force is necessary to keep the crate sliding at constant velocity? 250 N
- If the mass of the crate is 50 kg and sliding friction is 250 N, what is the acceleration of the crate when the pulling force is 250 N? 0 m/s² 300 N? 1 m/s² 500 N? 5 m/s² mathematics STEM education have emerged in the past decade Because virtually all of these innovations have been developed independently of one another their goals and purposes vary widely Some focus on making science accessible and meaningful to the vast majority of students who will not pursue STEM majors or careers others aim to increase the diversity of students who enroll and succeed in STEM courses and programs still other efforts focus on reforming the overall curriculum in specific disciplines In addition to this variation in focus these innovations have been implemented at scales that range from individual classrooms to entire departments or institutions By 2008 partly because of this wide variability it was apparent that little was known about the feasibility of replicating individual innovations or about their potential for broader impact beyond the specific contexts in which they were created The research base on innovations in undergraduate STEM education was expanding rapidly but the process of synthesizing that knowledge base had not yet begun If future investments were to be informed by the past then the field clearly needed a retrospective look at the ways in which earlier innovations had influenced undergraduate STEM education To address this need the National Research Council NRC convened two public workshops to examine the impact and effectiveness of selected STEM undergraduate education innovations This volume summarizes the workshops which addressed such topics as the link between learning goals and evidence promising practices at the individual faculty and institutional levels classroom based promising practices and professional development for graduate students new faculty and veteran faculty The workshops concluded with a broader examination of the barriers and opportunities associated with systemic change Teaching Science ,2008 Colorado School Journal ,1899 Student-active Science Ann P.
