worth of convenience foods Cooking especially from scratch is clearly on its way out However if this is true why do we spend so much money on kitchen appliances both large and small Why are so many cooking shows and cookbooks published each year if so few people actually cook In American Home Cooking Timothy Miller argues that there are historical reasons behind the reality of American cooking There are some factors that over the past two hundred years have kept us close to our kitchens while there are other factors that have worked to push us away from our kitchens At one end of the cooking and eating continuum is preparing meals from scratch all ingredients are raw and unprocessed and in extreme cases grown at the home On the other end of the spectrum is dining out at a restaurant where no cooking is done but the family is still fed All dining experiences exist along this continuum and Miller considers how American dining has moved along the continuum He looks at a number of different groups and trends that have affected the state of the American kitchen stretching back to the early 1800s These include food and appliance companies the restaurant industry the home economics movement of the early 20th century and reform movements such as the counterculture of the 1960s and the religious reform movements of the 1800s And yet the kitchen is still most often the center of the home and the place where most people expect to cook and eat even if they don't The Starting from Scratch Cookbook, 1978-01-01 Real Food Projects Kate Walsh, 2016-03-23 Real Food Projects is your handbook to 30 essential cooking skills that will connect you with your food again Even if you're a kitchen rookie you'll soon be churning your own butter and slathering it on your own no knead bread barbecuing your own homemade sausages or using the season's freshest fruits to make your own cordials Step by step instructions and photographs guide you from start to finish For too long we've been sold the idea that making our own food is difficult time consuming and not worth the effort But self-taught cook and sustainable food advocate Kate Walsh knows that learning how to cook a few kitchen staples from scratch using fresh local and seasonal produce is the best way to improve your health and that of our food system Better yet it tastes delicious Get involved and get stuck into some real food projects today
