Producing Children Peter C. Kunze,Victoria Ford Smith,2025-04-15

Producing Children imagines the possibility indeed the inevitability of a creative relation between children as producers and consumers by revising the long established hierarchical relation between adults and children The chapters in this collection reveal that studying child produced culture complicates our received understandings of children s culture as culture by adults for children about children They also underscore children s literature as a cultural phenomenon that moves across and beyond genres forms and media As a whole this collection reveals that attention to child produced culture invites dialogue and collaboration across fields and disciplines invested in the critical understanding of children as embodied beings and childhood as both a stage of development and discursive construct with social political economic and cultural dimensions and influence With the ongoing vibrancy of childhood studies as a multidisciplinary area of inquiry studies of child produced culture provide scholars with an exciting opportunity to complicate enrich and expand theorization of childhood creativity children s culture and even children themselves

You Must Become an Algorithmic Problem José Marichal,2025-09-16 In the age of AI where personal data fuels corporate profits and state surveillance what are the implications for democracy This incisive book explores the unspoken agreement we have with tech companies In exchange for reducing the anxiety of an increasingly complex online world we submit to algorithmic classification and predictability This reduces incentives for us to become algorithmic problems with dire consequences for liberal democracy He calls for a movement to demand that algorithms promote play creativity and potentiality rather than conformity This is a must read for anyone navigating the intersection of technology politics and identity in an increasingly data driven world

Filterworld Kyle Chayka,2024-01-23

The story told here is instrumental to your own Jared Lanier Timely erudite important Ayad Akhtar What happens when our cultural and artistic lives are dictated to us by an algorithm What does it mean when shareability supersedes innovation How can we make a choice when the options have been so carefully arranged for us From coffee shops to city grids to TikTok feeds and Netflix homepages the world over algorithmic recommendations prescribe our experiences This network of mathematically determined choices the Filterworld has taken over almost unnoticed as we ve grown accustomed to an insipid new normal But to have our tastes behaviours and emotions governed by computers calls the very notion of free will into question Internationally recognized journalist and New Yorker staff writer Kyle Chayka journeys through this ever tightening web woven by algorithms He explores how online and offline spaces alike have been engineered for seamless consumption How the lowest common denominator is promoted at the expense of the complex diverse or challenging How users of technology contend with data driven equations that promise to anticipate their desires but often get them wrong How the Filterworld is determining the very shape of culture itself Chayka skilfully and compellingly traces this creeping machine guided curation that influences not just what culture we consume but what culture is produced In doing so he attempts to answer to the most urgent question currently facing us is personal freedom ever again possible on the Internet Filterworld is a fascinating history of the rise of the algorithm and an important investigation into where it could take us next if we let it
