It offers faculty and facilitators a hands on resource for helping students reach their potential by tapping into the power of emotional intelligence. The Facilitation Guide includes exercises and activities which are designed to help students develop confidence, independence, the ability to set and meet goals, impulse control, social responsibility, problem solving skills, stress tolerance, and much more, all of which help improve academic success. And the best news of all is that these skills can be taught. EQ skills make the difference. Randy L. Swing, executive director, Association for Institutional Research. This Facilitation and Activity Guide is particularly useful, offering options from which the facilitator can draw in preparing assignments or learning community meetings.
