Seeing the City Nanke Verloo, Luca Bertolini, 2025-10-01 The city is a complex object Some researchers look at its shape others at its people animals ecology policy infrastructures buildings history art or technical networks Some researchers analyse processes of inclusion or exclusion gentrification or social mobility others biological evolution traffic flows or spatial development Many combine these topics or add still more topics beyond this list Some projects cross the boundaries of research and practice and engage in action research while others pursue knowledge for the sake of curiosity This volume embraces this variety of perspectives and provides an essential collection of methodologies for studying the city from multiple interdisciplinary and transdisciplinary perspectives We start by recognizing that the complexity of the urban environment cannot be understood from a single vantage point We therefore offer multiple methodologies in order to gather and analyse data about the city and provide ways to connect and integrate these approaches The contributors form a talented network of urban scholars and practitioners at the forefront of their fields They offer hands on methodological techniques and skills for data collection and analysis Furthermore they reveal honest and insightful reflections from behind the scenes All methodologies are illustrated with examples drawn from the authors own research applying them in the city of Amsterdam In this way the volume also offers a rich collection of Amsterdam based research and outcomes that may inform local urban practitioners and policy makers Altogether the volume offers indispensable tools for and aims to educate a new generation of interdisciplinary and transdisciplinary minded urban scholars and practitioners

Housing Policy Innovation in the Global South Paavo Monkkonen, 2020-06-29 Housing problems have become increasingly complex in the Global South An increased pressure to upgrade older stock to provide adequate infrastructure and bring city amenities to urban peripheries compounds the continued need for new housing of a decent standard This comprehensive volume spans nine countries simultaneously analyzing innovative housing policies and questioning the idea of innovation in this arena The authors describe three persistent global challenges to contemporary policy the inherent difficulty in mass producing housing of decent quality with access to the city the challenge of community based upgrading programmes which often fail to benefit those who are worst off and the political root of housing policies which don't always consider the diverse needs of populations at the expense of the least powerful This volume raises questions about what many consider the two most successful areas of housing policy in the Global South the community based land sharing programmes for redevelopment in South East Asia and the finance driven social housing programmes in Latin America The authors examine mass housing production programmes incremental development processes community based urban upgrading the legal structure of condominiums and land sharing policies while also highlighting challenges to policy learning across contexts This book will be of great interest to students researchers and those involved with contemporary housing policies particularly in the Global South It was originally published as a special issue of the International Journal of Housing Policy

Smart Urbanism Simon Marvin, Andrés Luque-Ayala, Colin McFarlane, 2015-12-14 Smart Urbanism SU the rebuilding of cities through the integration of digital technologies with buildings neighbourhoods networked infrastructures and people is being represented as a unique emerging solution to the majority of problems faced by cities today SU discourses enacted by technology companies national governments and supranational agencies alike claim a supremacy of urban digital technologies for managing and controlling infrastructures achieving greater effectiveness in managing service demand and reducing carbon emissions developing greater social interaction and community networks providing new services around health and social care etc Smart urbanism is being represented as the response to almost every facet of the contemporary urban question This book explores this common conception of the problematic of smart urbanism and critically address what new capabilities are being created by whom and with what exclusions how these are being developed and contested where is this happening both within and between cities and with what sorts of social and material consequences The aim of the book is to identify and convene a currently fragmented and disconnected group of researchers commentators developers and users from both within and outside the mainstream SU discourse including several of those that adopt a more critical perspective to assess what problems of the city smartness can address The volume provides the first internationally comparative assessment of SU in cities of the global north and south critically evaluates whether current visions of SU are able to achieve their potential and then identifies alternative trajectories for SU that hold radical promise for reshaping cities

Air Transport - A Tourism Perspective Anne Graham, Frederic Dobruszkes, 2019-02-18 Air Transport A Tourism Perspective provides rigorous insights into the current complexities synergies and conflicts within air transportation and tourism presenting a balanced comprehensive contemporary and global analysis that thoroughly examines the links between theory and practice The book offers readers a multi sector global perspective on the practical implications of the link between air transport and tourism By using a novel approach it systematically explores the successive stages of a tourist's trip investigating reasons for flying the airport experience airline industry structures competition and regulation and air transportation and destination interrelationships In addition the book explores current and salient debates on such issues as the influence of traveling to visit friends and family the role of charters versus low cost carriers public subsidies to support airport development and
