
MODULE
Chapter 151 : Types, Characteristics and Identification of Learners with Difficulty with Self-careIntroduction

In the world of kids with special needs, the most basic skills are called adaptive living skills, and more advanced skills such as doing laundry, catching a bus, or following a daily schedule, are sometimes called "life skills" or "skills of daily living". While these skills aren't critical for survival, they are extremely important for anyone who plans to work and recreate in a modern community.

Learning Objectives

After working through this module, the student should be able to:

- a) identify learners who have difficulty in selfcare;
- b) describe learners who have difficulty in self-care;
- c) recognize the uniqueness of various learners who have difficulty in self-care and implications for support and teaching strategies and,
- d) apply the practice of self-care by the learners.

Discussion

INTRODUCTION: This chapter focuses on learners having difficulty in self-care, specifically, those with intellectual disabilities. In this chapter, we provide a brief history of intellectual disability as well as how its terminology and definition has changed over time.
