Abstract This study examined the effects of a 12-week, 100% bodyweight resistance training program on the muscle strength and body composition of 10 sedentary, middle-aged men. The program consisted of three sessions per week, with each session including a full-body workout. The results showed that the participants experienced significant increases in muscle strength and body composition after the 12-week program. The findings suggest that a 12-week, 100% bodyweight resistance training program can be an effective means of improving muscle strength and body composition in sedentary, middle-aged men.
