Phonics Screening Check

What is phonics?

Phonics is the study of the sounds of words and how they are written. It is the study of the relationship between the sounds of words and the letters that represent them.

Phonics is a key part of learning to read and write. It helps children to understand how words are made and how they are written. This helps them to read and write more confidently.

How is phonics taught?

Phonics is taught in a variety of ways. Some children learn to read by sounding out words. Others learn to read by looking at the letters and guessing the word. Some children learn to read by a combination of these methods.

Phonics is taught in a way that is suitable for each child. Teachers will use a variety of resources to help children learn, including books, games, and worksheets.

What is the phonics screening check?

The phonics screening check is a test that is given to all children in Year One. It is designed to assess their phonics skills. The test consists of a series of words that the children have to read out loud. The words are chosen to test their knowledge of the sounds of words and the letters that represent them.

What is the purpose of the phonics screening check?

The purpose of the phonics screening check is to identify children who may have difficulties with phonics. This allows teachers to provide extra support to these children. The test also helps to monitor the progress of all children in Year One.

What is the result of the phonics screening check?

The result of the phonics screening check is a score that is given to each child. This score is based on the number of words that the child has read correctly. The score is then compared to the scores of other children in Year One. This helps to identify children who may need extra support.
