Dialectical Approaches to Studying Personal Relationships Barbara M. Montgomery, Leslie A. Baxter, 2013-09-13 This book describes many different and useful ways of understanding personal relationships from a dialectical perspective It is written for scholars in higher education both faculty and students across many fields within the social sciences and the humanities who seek answers to questions about how people relate to one another The book is valuable for all scholars who pursue new ideas because it models a form of scholarly communication in which multiple voices can be acknowledged as valid the worth of one perspective is not measured by the denigration of another and difference is celebrated as conducive to learning rather than threatening to it The contributors emphasize the characteristics of their dialectical view that set them apart from other dialectical authors and describe their methods of studying relationships from a dialectical perspective Following the Bakhtinian perspective they honor the values of dialogism by respecting different and sometimes contradictory views assuming that these views can be valid and joining in a discussion with the editors and other contributors about their emerging work They also acknowledge that the chapters in this text are part of an ongoing process to frame and reframe emerging ideas and allow the dialogue that occurs within this frame the freedom to express creative unique ideas

Exploring High-risk Offender Treatment and the Role of Music Therapy Louise Sicard, 2021-07-05 Exploring High risk Offender Treatment and the Role of Music Therapy explores the treatment delivered to high risk offenders with complex needs focusing on sex and violent offenders The book advocates for the further use of less traditional and creative therapies in particular music therapy The higher the risk the greater the needs Offenders with complex needs have a range of factors impacting their abilities and well being including mental health and learning disorders Importantly high risk offenders commonly present with complex needs and therefore require treatment that is highly responsive Guiding this book is the existing literature and qualitative research conducted by the author that sought to gain the perspectives and experiences of practitioners in the field This included 38 interviews with those that deliver treatment to high risk offenders and music therapy This book examines the components of high risk offender treatment highlighting the effective elements and the limitations found within the literature and from the perspective of interviewed practitioners Offering insight into less traditional therapies the book presents literature surrounding mindfulness psychodrama and art therapy for high risk offenders It is argued that there has been a recent shift towards a creative corrections approach where less traditional therapies are gaining recognition within offender treatment as they offer unique and supportive benefits to traditional treatment This book focuses on examining the role of music therapy for high risk offenders mainly through a critical discussion on the relevant literature and qualitative practitioner data Advocating the further implementation of creative corrections approaches this book will be of great interest to academics and researchers within the fields of offender treatment and penology as well as forensic psychologists and those studying or practicing music therapy
