Read the information contained in this study guide. If there are terms you are not able to pronounce, ask an instructor for assistance. It is likely that you will see these words again in the course material and the exam.

- If you find it difficult reading and understanding the information in this study guide, you will probably have difficulty reading and understanding your written exam as well.
- If you have never learned to read, we urge you to attend an adult learning program. (Your local safety council may be able to provide you with a local area learning program to assist you with language and/or reading skills upon request.)
- You will be required to read in order to pass your written exam.
- If you are assisted in any fashion during the exam your badge reflecting your safety training will be valid on a local level only. It will not be considered reciprocal training unless you are able to pass the exam unassisted in the English language.

Computers Basic Study Guide:

Study Guide to Accompany Computers Data and Processing Harvey M. Deitel, Barbara Deitel, 2014-05-10 Study Guide to Accompany Computer and Data Processing provides information pertinent to the fundamental aspects of computers and computer technology. This book presents the key benefits of using computers. Organized into five parts encompassing 19 chapters, this book begins with an overview of the evolution of modern computing systems from the earliest mechanical calculating devices to microchips. This text then introduces computer hardware and describes the processor. Other chapters describe how microprocessors are made and describe the physical operation of computers. This book discusses as well how computers present their outputs and explains the storage and retrieval of massive amounts of computer accessible information from secondary storage devices. The final chapter discusses the use of computers in the transportation systems and the ways in which they make possible other innovations in transportation. This book is a valuable resource for computer scientists, systems analysts, computer programmers, mathematicians, historians, computer specialists, and students.
