Catiline Drama Three Henrik Ibsen:

Catiline Henrik Ibsen, 2015-12-11 Catiline or Catilina was Henrik Ibsen's first play. The main character in this historical drama is the noble Roman Lucius Catilina, based on the historical figure of Catiline. He is torn between two women: his wife Aurelia and the Vestal virgin Furia. As characteristic of Ibsen's early work, the play is metrical iambic pentameter in blank verse.

Catiline Henrik Ibsen, 2018-06-25 Catiline A Drama in Three Acts Henrik Ibsen Catiline or Catilina was Henrik Ibsen's first play. It was written during winter 1848-49 and first performed under Ibsen's name on December 3, 1881, at the Nya Teatern New Theater Stockholm, Sweden. The first Norwegian performance under Ibsen's name was at Det Nye Teater in Oslo on August 24, 1935. Forced to support himself after his father declared bankruptcy, Ibsen went to Grimstad as a pharmacist's apprentice. There he both prepared himself for university and experimented with various forms of poetry. While studying, he found himself passionately drawn into the Catiline orations, famous speeches by Cicero against the elected questor Catiline and his conspiracy to overthrow the republic. Ibsen chose this famous conspirator as the subject for his initial effort, finishing Catiline in 1849. Henrik Ibsen expresses in the prologue to the second edition that he was profoundly inspired by the contemporary tempestuous political situation of Europe, especially he favours the Magyar uprising against the Habsburgian empire. He explains in the prologue to the second edition, written in February 1875, that the case of Catiline had special interest for him because, as he writes, there are given few examples of historical persons whose memory has been more entirely in the possession of its conquerors than Catiline. Thus Catiline can be read as one of Ibsen's heroes alongside Brand and Gregers Werle. We are delighted to publish this classic book as part of our extensive Classic Library collection. Early Plays Catiline, the Warrior's Barrow, Olaf Liljekrans (Classic Reprint) Henrik Ibsen, 2017-12-02 Excerpt from Early Plays Catiline the Warrior's Barrow Olaf Liljekrans Olaf Liljekrans which was presented on the Bergen stage in 1857 marks the end of Ibsen's early romantic interest. The original idea for this play, which he had begun in 1850, he found in the folk tale The Grouse in Justedal about a girl who alone had survived the Black Death in an isolated village. Ibsen had, with many others, become interested in popular folk tales and ballads. It was from Faye's Norwegian folk tales, 1844, that he took the story of The Grouse in Justedal. His interest was so great that he even turned collector. Twice during this period he petitioned for and received small university grants to enable him to travel and collect songs and legends still current among the people. Of the Seventy or eighty hitherto unpublished legends which he collected on the first of these trips only a few have ever appeared in print. The results of his second trip are unknown. Ibsen had great faith in the availability of this medieval material for dramatic purposes; he even wrote an essay The Heroic Ballad and Its Significance for Artistic Poetry. There are few individuals in history whose renown has been more completely in the hands of enemies than that of Catiline. My drama was written during the hours of the night. The leisure hours for my study I practically had to steal from my employer, a good and respectable man occupied however heart and soul with his business, and from those stolen study hours I again stole moments for writing verse. There was consequently scarcely anything else to resort to but the night. I believe this is the unconscious reason that almost the entire action of the piece transpires at night. Naturally a fact so incomprehensible to my associates as that I busied myself with the writing of plays had to be kept secret, but a twenty-year-old poet can hardly continue thus without anybody being privy to it, and I confided therefore to two friends of my own age what I was secretly engaged upon.
