the latter phase whatever is done for us by others is what we understand by formal education not forgetting the fact that the process is an active one largely dependent upon the personal effort of the individual to be educated Now the agencies by which education in this sense of the term is controlled are five in number viz the home the school About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

The Catholic Educational Review, Vol. 16 Catholic University Of America, 2018-01-11 Excerpt from The Catholic Educational Review Vol 16 July December 1918 We must not forget that scholars have as technical aids to study divided our language and literature into three great epochs Old English extending from the earliest times to the year 1100 Middle English 1100 to 1500 and Modern 1500 to the present These periods are still so long that each may again be divided this is true especially of Middle English when our speech was undergoing very considerable changes Accordingly Sir Fred erick Madden whose authority is generally accepted makes a subdivision of the latter and calls the period from 1100 to 1230 semi saxon It is to this class that the piece of literature we are now going to study belongs About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

The Catholic Educational Review Catholic University of America,2016-12-23 Excerpt from The Catholic Educational Review January 1911 Of religion They were in the possession Of the Church from the earliest days and their application antedates by centuries the formulation Of theories that are now widely accepted as the psychological basis Of education It is indeed interesting to note that as a clearer insight is Obtained into the activity and development Of the mind the principles which the Papacy has followed in its teach ing are seen to be the best sort Of applied psychology On the other hand the rejection of these principles by many who nevertheless desire that Christianity should prevail explains in some measure the difficulties pre sented by the question Of religious and moral instruo tion At all events it has been claimed that the teaching Of religion must be kept apart from the teaching of other subjects on the ground that its methods are incompatible with those that are employed in the regular work of the school and it is worth while inquiring whether the Church in her long experience has not made use of meth ods that are free from any such Objection About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

The Catholic Educational Review, Vol. 11 (Classic Reprint) Catholic University Of America,2017-12-23 Excerpt from The Catholic Educational Review Vol 11 Two very important decisions Which directly affect secon dary and college education seem to me says Dr Pritchett to have arisen from this situation The council has imposed as a condition of the recognition of medical schools as accept able an entrance requirement of one year of college work this year to include the study of three sciences and a modern lan guage Not only has the council adopted this requirement as a teaching measure but it has enforced it throughout the United States without regard to the ability of the school and college system to meet it Finally it has consented to recognize pre medical schools set up in the medical school itself to teach the three sciences and a modern language it can all be done easily in one large room chemistry in one corner physics in another biology in a third and German in the fourth It is very presumptuous on the part of the medical faculty to undertake to teach the rudiments of the sciences on which the medical profession rests and as for their undertaking in a medical school to teach German It is really surprising that the intelligence of the Medical Council would not have seen the absurdity of this About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

The Catholic Educational Review, Vol. 14 Catholic University of America, 2016-12-24 Excerpt from The Catholic Educational Review Vol 14 June December 1917 These two mistakes in conducting our classes in religion can be very easily remedied The latter by simply establishing the rule that failure in Christian Doctrine means privation of privileges and exclusion from representing the school on athletic teams the former by giving credits for work done If one credit is given for a year's study of a cultural subject like history for a certain number of class periods of a definite length then surely for the same number of periods of half that length one half credit should be given This is seen as altogether reasonable when we consider that there is no subject more cultural than the study of religion And in doing this we would simply be following in the wake of all sectarian colleges and some non sectarian which give Bible study and other branches of the study of religion a dignified place in the curriculum along with credits for work done Of course we should not be content to follow these colleges least of all in this matter Rather we should endeavor to surpass them But at present in many respects we are very far behind About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

The Catholic Educational Review, Vol. 3 (Classic Reprint) Catholic University of America, 2017-01-08 Excerpt from The Catholic Educational Review Vol 3 The Sisters College is a response to two of the most obvious needs of Catholic education in the United States viz the teacher's need of adequate training and the need of system and organization in our Catholic schools The many grave problems which the deep seated social and economic changes of the past few decades have presented to the schools for

solution demand the highest attainable training in the teachers engaged in all grades of school work The state school systems have provided for this training by the creation of city training schools state normal schools and the departments of education in the various state universities Our teaching communities have endeavored according to the measure of their means to provide normal training for their members but it has often been felt that this training was insufficient and recourse was had in some instances to the state normal schools and state universities to complete the academic and professional training of at least a few of the Sisters This on the face of it is a strange anomaly The aim of education in our state schools is to present to the pupils a world from which God is banished and to organize in their minds a system of truth that has no need of Revelation of divine authority back of moral law or of redeeming grace How then may a Sister be expected to find in such an institution adequate training for the solution of the problems of Catholic education which are precisely to show God back of all natural phenomena and to read His will in the law engraven on the human heart and proclaimed through divinely constituted channels Of authority Moreover About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

The Catholic Educational Review, Vol. 19 (Classic Reprint) Catholic University Of America, 2018-01-19 Excerpt from The Catholic Educational Review Vol 19 The tide of immigration pouring into our country for many decades in ever increasing volume was interrupted briefly during the years

Of the European War but is now resumed in increased volume which is limited only by the carrying capacity of the ships that pass between European ports and our own This tide Of immigration presents many unsolved problems We need much more labor than has been available during the past few years unless we are to drop back into an elementary condition in which we export our raw materials and import our necessary manufactures On the other hand an abundant supply Of labor is likely to reduce the wages Of the working man and to lower his standard of living The adjustment of these Opposing factors must be undertaken by the national government But this is not the only problem nor indeed the chief problem which the situation presents Our experience Of the past few years has taught all who are willing to learn that we have failed in large measure to deal with many vital issues that are involved As a result we hear on every side the demand for the Americanization Of the foreigner and the public is looking to the school to take its part in this work About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

The Catholic Educational Review, Vol. 12 Catholic University Of America, 2017-12-13 Excerpt from The Catholic Educational Review Vol 12 June December 1916 It is the singular advantage Of our Catholic schools that they are conducted by women who devote themselves without reserve to their task whose hearts and minds and lives are wholly given to developing in knowledge and in virtue the souls of our children And for this very reason it is essential to the success Of Catholic education that our Sisters should be prepared not only as teachers but also as Catholic teachers They need all the instruction that university courses can supply but they must receive that instruction from a Catholic source Here at the University while they are trained in the science and art of education they are also imbued with the true spirit Of the teacher the spirit of Christ himself They are taught to see and to appreciate all knowledge in the light of God's eternal truth to understand the facts of nature the events Of history the vicissitudes of civilization and the institutions established by man as so many items in the order which is ruled by Divine Providence And thus seeing God in all things they are able to keep God ever before the minds of their pupils They are prepared to make religion not merely a part Of their teaching but the very life and soul of all that they teach They are trained to unify their teaching and what is more important to make God the source and center of that unification About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do
