Teacher Professional Learning in an Age of Compliance Susan Groundwater-Smith, Nicole Mockler, 2009-04-29 Teacher Professional Learning in an Age of Compliance Mind the Gap examines ways in which practice based inquiry in educational settings in a number of different countries and contexts can transcend current ways of working and thinking such that authentic professional learning is the result The authors contend that education policy under pressure from a number of quarters is retreating into a standardized audited and backward looking arena with the advances of more progressive educational philosophy being rolled back In an age where practitioner inquiry and action research have often been hijacked for the purposes of broad based policy implementation this book offers a rationale for reclaiming the critical edge so fundamental to inquiry based professional learning It examines the potential of inquiry based forms of teacher professional learning to contribute to the growth of professional knowledge for and about teachers work The authors intend that the book will assist in building new forms of professional knowledge that go beyond the current compliance model engineered from less enduring materials to inform a new model with its foundations in a strong ethical and moral framework They also believe that this new model if implemented will help to reverse today's conservative educational trends and make teacher professional development a force for genuine progress once again They have consciously moved away from the celebratory tone of much of the academic reporting of teacher professional learning adopting instead a genuinely critical edge In covering a wide range of policies and practices from across the international spectrum they have allowed themselves the freedom to engage in serious epistemological arguments about the nature of professional knowledge as well as how it is constructed and employed

Alternative Routes to Teaching Pamela Lynn Grossman, Susanna Loeb, 2008. Over the past 20 years, alternative certification for teachers has emerged as a major avenue of teacher preparation. The proliferation of new pathways has spurred heated debate over how best to recruit, prepare, and support qualified teachers. Drawing on the work of leading scholars, Alternative Routes to Teaching provides a thorough and dispassionate review of the research evidence on alternative certification. It takes readers beyond the simple dichotomies that have characterized the debate over alternative certification, encourages them to look carefully at the trade-offs implicit in any route into teaching, and suggests ways to marry the proven strengths of both traditional and alternative approaches. Alternative Routes to Teaching is a timely, thoughtful book about one of the most pressing and controversial problems in American education today. This volume brings new and much-needed sophistication to ongoing debates about teacher preparation. Marilyn Cochran-Smith, Professor of Education, John E. Cawthorne Millennium Chair in Teacher Education for Urban Schools and Director of the Doctoral Program in Curriculum and Instruction, Lynch School of Education, Boston College. A better book on this subject could not have been written. Alternative Routes to Teaching is a must-read for everyone involved in planning for the future of teaching. Emily Feistritzer, President and CEO, National Center for Education Information, National Center for Alternative Certification. At a time when the education of teachers is undergoing tectonic shifts, this work by Grossman, Loeb, and their colleagues represents an invaluable contribution. They introduce evidence where empty rhetoric has reigned and offer prudent evaluations of the available data to inform a policy debate dominated by ideology. Lee S. Shulman, President, The Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, and Charles E. Ducommun, Professor of Education Emeritus, Stanford University. Pam Grossman is a professor of education at Stanford University. Susanna Loeb is an associate professor of education at Stanford University and director of the Institute for Research on Educational Policy and Practice. Key Issues in Teacher Education J. S.
