Fiction as

Research Practice Patricia Leavy,2016-06-16 The turn to fiction as a social research practice is a natural extension of what many researchers and writers have long been doing Patricia Leavy a widely published qualitative researcher and a novelist explores the overlaps and intersections between these two ways of understanding and describing human experience She demonstrates the validity of literary experimentation to the qualitative researcher and how to incorporate these practices into research projects Five short stories and excerpts from novellas and novels show these methods in action This book is an essential methodological introduction for those interested in studying or practicing arts based research

Participatory

Visual and Digital Methods Aline Gubrium,Krista Harper,2016-06-16 Gubrium and Harper describe how visual and digital methodologies can contribute to a participatory public engaged ethnography These methods can change the traditional relationship between academic researchers and the community building one that is more accessible inclusive and visually appealing and one that encourages community members to reflect and engage in issues in their own communities The authors describe how to use photovoice film and video digital storytelling GIS digital archives and exhibits in participatory contexts and include numerous case studies demonstrating their utility around the world

Transformative

Autoethnography for Practitioners Kathy-Ann C. Hernandez,Heewon Chang,Wendy A. Bilgen,2022-03-30 A 2023 SPE Outstanding Book Award Winner Can transformation be the primary goal of autoethnographic research In this book the authors present a compelling case that this is indeed possible Since autoethnography first appeared as a nascent approach to social inquiry much has been written about it as a useful addition to the field of qualitative research methods Over the years its usage has been extended across various disciplines including the humanities human services social sciences leadership studies engineering education counseling and even medical education Notably the primary function of autoethnography to advance our understanding around sociocultural phenomena has been increasingly paired with a parallel function of the many ways in which this research method can also contribute to practice However though its contribution to scholarship is well documented less has been written about its practical usage as the focal point of inquiry Yet there is growing evidence that one of the emerging strengths of autoethnography is its transformative capabilities In Transformative Autoethnography for Practitioners Hernandez Chang and Bilgen turn the spotlight on autoethnography as a tool for practitioners where the primary goal is to solve real world problems by facilitating transformational change at the individual group and or organizational levels They draw on existing scholarship as well as their collective work and expertise to provide a Transformative Autoethnographic Model TAM for use by practitioners who are intent on effecting such changes in their respective contexts The book contains seven chapters Chapters One through Three provide the theoretical grounding for a transformative autoethnography model Chapter One begins with a broad overview of autoethnographic research and the unique characteristics of this method that makes it especially suited for effecting transformational learning In chapters Two and Three the authors provide a quick review of the literature relevant to individual autoethnography and collaborative autoethnography respectively Each chapter discussion is centered around explicating the transformative elements of the method as well as how it is able to effect change at the individual group and organizational level Chapters Four through Six focus on the praxis of transformative autoethnography In Chapter Four the transformative autoethnography model TAM is presented in detail and templates are provided for its application Chapters Five and Six show the application of the TAM in a variety of settings The book ends with a final chapter discussion on the continuing evolution of autoethnographic explorations as well as future applications for the TAM model in a fast changing digital landscape Perfect for courses such as Research Methods in the Social Sciences Qualitative Research Methods Narrative Research Advanced Qualitative Research Methods Coaching and Consulting Leading Change

Autoethnography for Librarians and Information Scientists illustrates that autoethnography is a rich qualitative research method that can enhance understanding of one s own work experiences whilst also facilitating the design of tailored experiences for a variety of audiences Starting with the position that librarians and information scientists require deep insight into people s experiences needs and information behaviour in order to design appropriate services and information interventions this book shows that using only conventional methods such as questionnaires and focus groups is insufficient Arguing that autoethnography can provide unique insights into users cultural experiences and needs contributors to this volume introduce the reader to different types of autoethnography Highlighting common challenges and clarifying how autoethnography can be combined with other research methods this book will empower librarians and information scientists to conceptualise topics for autoethnographic research whilst also ensuring that they adhere to strict ethical guidelines Chapters within the volume also demonstrate how to produce autoethnographic writing and stress the need to analyse autoethnographies produced by others Autoethnography for Librarians and Information Scientists is essential reading for any librarian information scientist or student looking to deepen their understanding of their own experiences It will be particularly useful to those engaged in the study of service provision user studies and information behaviour Handbook of Autoethnography Tony E. personal identity and organizational scholarship. By using personal narrative and autoethnographic approaches this research focuses on the working lives of individual people within the organizations for which they work. This international handbook includes chapters that provide multiple overarching perspectives to organizational autoethnography including views from fields such as critical postcolonial and queer studies. It also tackles specific organizational processes including organizational exits, grief, fandom and workplace bullying as well as highlighting the ethical implications of writing organizational research from a personal narrative approach. Contributors also provide autoethnographies about the military, health care and academia in addition to approaches from various subdisciplines such as marketing, economics and documentary film work. Contributions from the US, the UK, Europe and the Global South span disciplines such as organizational studies and ethnography, communication studies, business studies and theatre and performance to provide a comprehensive map of this wide reaching area of qualitative research. This handbook will therefore be of interest to both graduate and postgraduate students as well as practicing researchers. Winner of the 2021 National Communication Association Ethnography Division Best Book Award. Winner of the 2021 Distinguished Book on Business Communication Award Association for Business Communication.

Between the Two Ken Gale, Jonathan Wyatt, 2009-10-02. In this unique work Ken Gale and Jonathan Wyatt bring together three areas of scholarship: collaborative writing as method of inquiry, the philosophical approaches of the French philosopher Gilles Deleuze, and the performativity of both writing and the self. The book is a reflexive exploration into the theory and practice of collaborative writing with their 'between the two' sequences of exchanged writings using a variety of forms and genres at the book's heart. Their collaboration offers an experimental, transgressive and nomadic inquiry into subjectivity. Based upon the authors' joint doctoral dissertation, the book draws for its theoretical base primarily from the work of Deleuze from both his philosophical figures and the insights that he offers into his collaborations with others. It also tells a story conveying a sense of a relationship developing over time. This book will interest both academics and postgraduate students in the field of qualitative inquiry including those involved in narrative inquiry, cultural communication and performance studies and autoethnography.

Poetic Inquiry Sandra L. Faulkner, 2019-07-22. Poetic Inquiry: Craft, Method and Practice examines the use of poetry as a form of qualitative research representation and method used by researchers, practitioners and students from across the social sciences and humanities. It serves as a practical manual for using poetry in qualitative research through the presentation of varied examples of Poetic Inquiry. It provides how-to exercises for developing and using poetry as a qualitative research method. The book begins by mapping out what doing and critiquing Poetic Inquiry entails via a discussion of the power of poetry, poets and researchers' goals for the use of poetry and the kinds of projects that are best suited for Poetic Inquiry. It also provides descriptions of the process and craft of creating Poetic Inquiry and suggestions for how to evaluate and engage with Poetic Inquiry The book further contends with questions of method process and craft from poets and researchers perspectives It shows the implications for the aesthetic and epistemic concerns in poetry and furthers transdisciplinary dialogues between the humanities and social sciences Faulkner shows the importance of considering the form and function of Poetic Inquiry in qualitative research through discussions of poetry as research method poetry as qualitative analysis and representation and Poetic Inquiry as a powerful research tool Duoethnography Richard D. Sawyer, Joe Norris, 2013 Duoethnography is a collaborative research methodology in which two or more researchers engage in a dialogue on their disparate histories in a given phenomenon Their goal is to interrogate and re conceptualize existing beliefs through a conversation that is written in a play script format The methodology of duoethnography serves as the focus of this book Duoethnography facilitates stratified nested auto ethnographic accounts of a given research context or question designed to emphasize the complex reflexive and aesthetic aspects of both the work in process and the product As a curriculum and a research method duoethnography explores two seminal issues representation in qualitative research how to represent findings when findings are created within a dynamic phenomenological text and praxis how research contributes to a sense of personal change Duoethnography allows researchers to explore their hybrid identities and to see how their lives have been situated socially and culturally Recent duoethnographic studies have examined a range of topics including forms of institutionalized racism beauty post colonialism multicultural identity construction and professional boundaries between patient and practitioner in mental health professions Autoethnography in Language Education Bedrettin Yazan, 2024-05-17 This book presents an exploration of autoethnography in language education research as a qualitative method with the potential to decolonize language education practices and include marginalized scholars in knowledge generation The author situates the method of autoethnography within the field arguing that it has taken too long for autoethnography to be considered an established research method in language education in particular and in educational research in general He then addresses tensions at the macro and micro levels of autoethnography discusses its characteristics and describes the processes and procedures involved in conducting autoethnographic research This book will be of interest to graduate students and scholars in language education and related disciplines such as anthropology communication studies sociology and broader educational research
